King Glum After Talks

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The military regime sent envoys to King Constantine in Rome Saturday with an invitation for him to take back his throne as a figurehead monarch. The envoys met with him for five hours and returned with his response to Athens Saturday night.

They refused to disclose the answer to newsmen but the signs were Constantine had rejected it and sent back his own condition for retaking his throne: resignation of the military junta.

The 27-year-old monarch remained in Rome. He looked haggard and grim after his talk with the envoys.

One of the envoys, Orthodox Archbishop Ieronymos, was asked on his return to Athens whether the king will return. He replied: "It depends on the government."

Was the mission a success?

"That's a private question," the archbishop said.

The offer for Constantine to take back the throne he abandoned Wednesday in his effort to overthrow the military government came from Brig. Stylianos Patakos, the Greek deputy premier, at an Athens news conference.

"The king left the country by himself," he said. "We didn't send him away. And his throne is here."

The king, he added, can come back any time he wanted to.

Patakos did not mention the regime's terms. These were learned later from sources in Athens and Rome.

The regime dispatched Archbishop Ieronymos, primate of the Greek Orthodox Church and close friend of the king, to Rome with the terms.

In Rome, Archbishop Ieronymos joined Foreign Minister Panayiotis Pipinelis, who reached the Italian capital Friday from a Brussels meeting, and the two conferred with the king in the Greek Embassy.

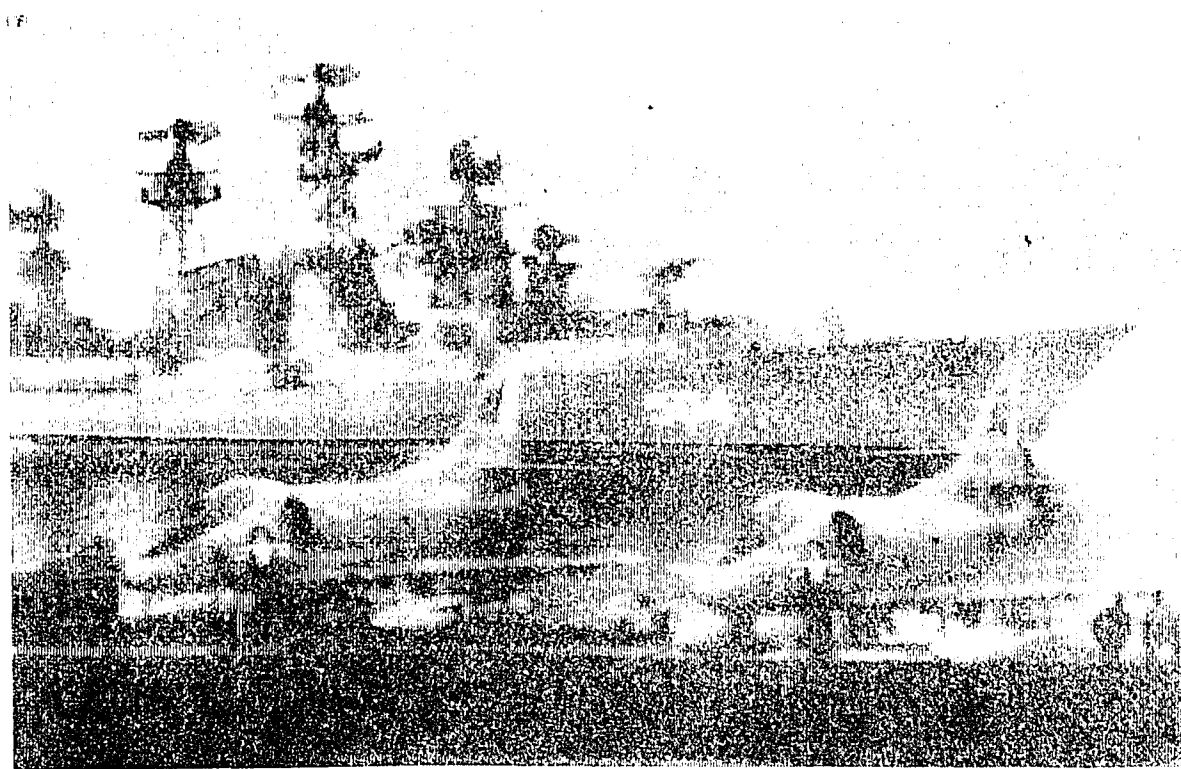

A few minutes after the envoys left, the king himself left the embassy and went to join his family at a nearby villa.

In Athens, members of the ruling junta did not appear to have much hope Constantine would accept, and the general feeling in political and diplomatic circles was the same.

The regime showed signs of anxiously wanting him back for many reasons—to give their government a look of respectability, to placate world opinion critical of their coup of last April 21, and to mollify the major Western powers.

In the Greek capital junta leaders reaffirmed that a new constitution would soon be readied and would be based on the monarchy. They announced that

Bombers Trade Fire With Commie Jets

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. fighter-bombers attacked North Vietnamese heavily defended heartland for the third straight day Saturday and traded shots with MIGs near Hanoi.

U.S. Air Force pilots reported sighting at least six advanced-model MIG 21s and older MIG 17s. F4 Phantom escort fighters exchanged air-to-air missiles and 20mm cannon fire with some of the interceptors in brief strafing passes.

There were no planes downed or damaged on either side.

The major target was the Yen Vien railroad yard six miles east of the center of Hanoi. The yard is the main marshaling area leading into the North Vietnamese capital off the northeast rail line from Red China, an important supplier of Hanoi's war effort.

F105 Thunderchief pilots from bases in Thailand said their bombs sliced up rail lines at both ends of the yard and destroyed at least two buildings in an adjacent support area. The yard hadn't been bombed since Nov. 19.

Indications were that the raiding forces were about the same as those involved Friday, when Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots hit North Vietnamese targets with 119 multiplane missions.

Radio Hanoi said four planes had been shot down and several Americans were captured. It reported two were felled over the North Vietnamese capital, a third 30 miles to the northeast and the fourth at Haiphong.

That boosted Communist claims for the three days to 11. The U.S. Command has ac-knowledgeed the loss of only one plane, an Air Force F105 Thunderchief that failed to return from a raid in the Hanoi area Thursday.

Some of the targets hit in the past three days were previously bombed bridges and other facilities that had been repaired or rebuilt during the stormy weather. Returning pilots also reported tough anti-aircraft fire over the target areas.

Key targets Friday were the Canal des Rapides bridge just north of Hanoi, Haiphong's main highway bridge and the Kien An rail bridge in the southern outskirts of the big port city.

Officers dealing with the air war said it was difficult to estimate how much longer the break in the weather might last. The rainy season in that region will continue for five months.

The main ground action in South Vietnam still centered on the Bong Son coastal plain.

For more than a week U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have fought a series of battles with North Vietnamese troops in that sector, 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

Predict More Snowfall On Stranded Motorists

GRANTS, N.M. (AP)—Bands of hundreds of Navajo Indians looked Saturday night for help from the Air Force in surviving a brutal winter storm that locked them in on isolated areas on their vast reservation.

Kirtland Air Force Base spokesmen in Albuquerque, N.M., said a tanker carrying 5,000 gallons of precious helicopter fuel was expected in Window Rock, Ariz., late Saturday, allowing ski-bearing choppers to land food, blankets and medical supplies.

A four-day storm that had confined the Indians also crippled much of New Mexico and the Southwest, bringing death.

A Greyhound bus carrying Ft. Bliss soldiers from El Paso, Tex., failed to negotiate a curve on icy U.S. 62-180 about 12 miles west of Salt Flat, Tex., just below the New Mexico border and one person was killed. Ft. Bliss spokesmen said it was one of 100 buses that left the base Saturday carrying men home on Christmas leave.

Ambulances were rushed to the scene from El Paso, Van Horn and Pecos and from Carlsbad and Artesia, N.M. Some 30-40 men were injured, spokesmen said.

Navajo Police Supt. Al Adams said 200 Indians were caught by the storm while picking pinon nuts about 40 miles north of Pinon, Ariz.

Rescue teams in snow tracked vehicles were grinding their way through snowfall estimated at more than 30 inches deep to reach the Indians. Their only shelter were a few pickup truck camper units and stubby pinon trees.

On the southern edge of the reservation at Grants, stranded but sheltered, travelers waiting out a 21-inch snowfall on U.S. 66-Interstate 40 heard threats of a new storm heading their way.

State Police Chief Joe Black said the pilot of a single-engine airplane that crashed Friday during a storm in the Gallinas Mountains of central New Mexico died. Five other persons survived.

One of the survivors, Air Force Maj. K. E. Stout, walked for four hours with a broken ankle after daybreak Saturday from the crash site to a ranch. The pilot was identified as Doss Maner of Alamogordo.

Navajo Police Lt. Paul H. Tsosie said a Navajo sheepherder from Teecanpos on the reservation was found frozen to death Saturday. Tsosie said reports of other deaths or injuries had not been verified. The dead man was identified as Crippled Boy, an Indian name.

Percy Discusses Visit To India With Newsmen

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said Saturday India has come to see the dangers from Peking while neighboring Pakistan was carrying on a "hot romance" with Red China.

Percy spoke to newsmen near the end of a busy one-day visit to New Delhi, where he met president Zakir Husain, prime minister Indira Gandhi, deputy prime minister Morarji Desai and other Indian officials.

The senator said India had adopted a "greater sense of realism about the tendencies and attitudes of China."

On the other hand, he said, Pakistan had moved from being a power solidly aligned with the western military alliances "to one that has opened up and carried on a hot romance with Red China."

Nevertheless, he added, he favors continued aid to and relations with Pakistan.

He said he could see great gains in India since his last visit a decade ago, particularly in implementation of the family planning program.

His next stop is Tehran, Iran. Mrs. Gandhi said her 40-minute talk with Percy was "interesting and useful."

Search Continues For River Victims

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (AP)—Rescue team coordinators called off the search late Saturday night for victims of an Ohio River bridge tragedy which left eight persons dead and at least 33 unaccounted for.

West Virginia Civil Defense

Coordinator James Hampton said teams of divers wearing deep-sea type equipment had explored the river near this western West Virginia town for more than six hours Saturday but had found nothing of consequence.

Hampton said the "hard hat" divers would resume their work Sunday morning. In the meantime, two floating derricks with clamshell-like shovels were to continue dragging the river over night.

"They (the divers) were working by feel," Hampton said. "But the mere fact that they haven't found anything doesn't mean they haven't accomplished anything. At least they know where not to search."

Australia Minister Missing

MELBOURNE, Australia

(AP)—Police launched a land, sea and air search Sunday following an unconfirmed report that Prime Minister Harold E. Holt was missing while skin diving.

When Holt could not be located after a 21-hour search of the beach, police sent foot police, skin divers, police launches and a helicopter to search for him.

The prime minister lost contact with the Portsea quarantine officer while they were skin diving together off a beach near Holt's house 60 miles south of Melbourne.

Dayan Is Eyed As Israel Leader

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israel's war hero Moshe Dayan is being eyed as the prime minister's likely successor, according to a report by the Israeli press.

Dayan's supporters are basing their strategy on the premise that their man will pick up the reins of the government after the death of Prime Minister Levi Eshkol or his designated successor.

Eshkol's own future is in doubt. But the feeling is that the 72-year-old prime minister will not run again. Indeed, there has been talk that Eshkol might throw his support to another war hero, Labor Minister Yigal Allon, 49, of Achdut Havodah.

But patched-eyed Dayan, a defense minister and the Israeli darling of the June war, has been leading the opposition to Eshkol's leadership since the war.

The fight for the prime ministry has already started. Allon leveled a blistering charge against Dayan last month, accusing him of mishandling the war with the Arabs.

Dayan was reported to have been furious but refused to be drawn into a public controversy. Dayan's cause also can be expected to be backed by his old mentor, David Ben-Gurion, Israel's crusty father symbol and former prime minister.

Ben-Gurion, 81, broke with Mapai, the party he helped found in 1930, and formed Rafi because of its "lower" rank and "wanting to be a party."

General elections are not scheduled until 1969. In Israeli politics that is several light years away.

Canadian Liberals Seek New Chief

OTTAWA (AP)—Top leaders of Canada's Liberal party met today to set the stage for selection of a successor to Lester B. Pearson as party leader and prime minister.

In Canada, the leader of the party that wins an election automatically becomes prime minister. Pearson, 70, announced Thursday his decision to retire.

The likeliest choice on the time and place for the convention is the third week in April in Ottawa.

The Conservative convention in September was regarded as a resounding success in attracting public attention. The Conservatives at that time named Robert L. Stanfield as their leader, succeeding John G. Diefenbaker.

Only one liberal has so far announced his intention of seeking the leadership. He is Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene, 47, a Toronto-born lawyer who has become a colorful member of Parliament since his election from Ottawa in 1963.

But these men are considered front-running candidates.

Foreign Secretary Paul Martin, 64, dean of the Liberal leadership in terms of political experience and age.

Robert Winters, 57, a native of Nova Scotia who is trade minister in Pearson's government.

Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp, 57, a former Winnipeg economist who now represents Toronto in Parliament.

Transport Minister Paul Hellyer, 44, who entered Pearson's government as defense minister, transferring to transport later.

These men are regarded as possible candidates: Jean Marchand, 49, former labor leader who is minister of manpower and immigration.

McGhee Asserts U.S. Stands Firm In Commitments

BERLIN (AP)—U.S. Ambassador George C. McGhee said Saturday that despite Vietnam the United States stands as firm and committed as ever in Europe and Berlin, armed with 7,000 nuclear weapons.

McGhee, who attended the White House wedding last week and talked with President Johnson, said that while Washington officials give much attention to Vietnam they give even more to Europe.

"Let there be no mistake about it. We continue to be committed in Berlin. And in the same way, we continue to be committed in Europe," McGhee said in a speech to the American Chamber of Commerce in West Berlin.

"A quarter of a million Americans stand guard every day over Europe's eastern ramparts. They are armed with 7,000 nuclear weapons," the ambassador added.

"We have no plans to alter our forces in Europe except through the limited redeployment plan previously announced and now approved by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. We can maintain our forces here—at the same time we meet our goals in Vietnam."

"The American security commitment to Europe through NATO is as firm and reliable today as when it was first made in 1949."

90th Congress Starts Month-Long Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Praise from the Johnson administration and the prospect of a rough struggle over a proposed income tax increase accompanied the nation's spending Congress Saturday as it started a month-long holiday.

When the 90th Congress concluded its first session Friday night it had exceeded by $10 billion the 25-year-old record for federal appropriations voted in a single year.

It voted $157.1 billion, compared with the prior mark of $147.1 billion set in 1942, the first full year of World War II. The total includes so-called permanent appropriations which also hit a new peak of $15.2 billion, mostly for interest on the national debt.

At a Saturday morning news conference arranged by the White House, Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien reported with satisfaction that the 90th not only retained President Johnson's principal programs but in some instances extended them.

In the closing hours of the session, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., buoyed administration hopes for early passage of Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge by announcing his committee will resume hearings Jan. 22. The panel has had the proposal on the shelf since October.

But a key figure in the Senate made it clear Saturday that, even if Mills relents, the tax proposal may not have smooth sailing in the smaller chamber.

Sen. Russell B. Long, the assistant Democratic leader and chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said "I'd vote against it, if I was voting on it right now."

Long said any House proposal would be carefully considered but made it clear he still hopes spending reductions may make a boost unnecessary.

Long gave his views in a television-radio interview taped for broadcast in Louisiana.

Speaking to House and Senate members at a White House bill-signing Saturday, Johnson noted that the tax increase proposal will be with them next year and "I don't want you to forget that while you're home."

And the President said he figures the just-concluded session was a productive one, passing 57 important measures and leaving only 18 over as unfinished business for 1968.

The 1967 record appropriations total came despite the preoccupation of the legislators with a wide variety of budget-cutting moves throughout the session.

They succeeded in chopping $5.95 billion from the $163 billion in requests submitted by President Johnson in the 17 money bills acted on during the year. This was the biggest such cut in many years.

History Or Myth--Which Is Which?

It has been proved time and time again that much of what we call myth is based on actual history.

One famous example is that of Heinrich Schliemann, the amateur archeologist who discovered the site of the ancient city of Troy by using Homer's "Iliad" as a guide.

But how much of what we believe to be history is actually myth—things that never happened?

For that matter, how much of history is what historian Daniel J. Boorstin calls "pseudo-events"—things that actually happened but were essentially phony? A stage-managed "confrontation" between demonstrators and the police, with the alerted press looking on, falls in the pseudo-event category.

The questions are provoked by three recent items in the news.

One is the announcement by New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art that its famous bronze statue of a horse, once believed to be a superb example of Greek sculpture dating from about 400 B.C., is actually a forgery made in this century.

The horse is still a superb example of art, but it is no longer "real" in the sense we thought it was.

The second is a story from France about some documents which have come to light that indicate that Joan of Arc was never burned at the stake. Moreover, she was not a peasant girl but a noblewoman, who married one Robert des Armoises and lived happily ever after.

According to the last living descendant of the family, the stake-burning legend "was a big publicity stunt, one of the earliest in France's history," and was devised to serve political ends. Finally, in London the other day, thousands of dollars worth of fake first editions of famous books, printed by a book dealer named Thomas Wise in the 19th century, were auctioned off to eager buyers at Sotheby's.

Not only have the forgeries attained historical value in their own right, but a counterfeit of one of Thomas' fakes actually sold for more than the "genuine" fake.

All of which brings to mind the brilliant idea of an Englishman about a hundred years ago and what has to be the greatest forgery of all.

Seeking to reconcile the then-raging controversy between the evolutionists and the anti-evolutionists, zoologist Philip Gosse claimed that both were right.

The earth was indeed created in six days in 4004 B.C., as the fundamentalists believed. And yes, the newly discovered geological and paleontological evidence that pointed to a far older age was quite correct.

How could this be?

Because God had created the world with a built-in history. The marks left by glaciers, the fossils of extinct types of animals and men, all the evidence that the world and its life forms had gone through a long process of change and evolution was quite real—and quite fake. Just as Adam was created with a navel but never had a mother, so the earth was created with a past that never happened.

So what's the moral? Perhaps, that "history" at any given moment is pretty much the creation of the present, and that men will go on discovering it and undiscovering it, making it and remaking it in the same groping way they always have.

It is, after all, the only history we've got.

Ah, There's The Rub, Gals; Robb Is 'Already Got'

By NOEL GROVE

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — He denies any political ambition, but if Capt. Charles Robb could sway voters the way he won ladies' hearts at his first press conference he'd be a shoo-in for public office.

Won by the same boyish good looks, deep voice and military school courtesy that must have convinced Lynda Bird, the ladies of the press pressed around the young Marine at the conclusion of the interview for one last superfluous question, one little handshake.

Perhaps the frustration of the young bachelorettes among them was the best voiced later by Marthann Berry, representing two Texas papers, who had managed to wangle a seat beside Robb on the couch of the Marine Barracks Center House lobby for the hour-long confab.

In discussing attitudes taken in news articles about him, Robb said, "I don't feel anybody is out to get me."

Opening Texas-sized brown eyes to the limit, the pert southern brunette half - wailed, "But you're already got!"

NO LESS - GUARDED than the U.S. intelligence network are the secrets of a White House wedding.

No less carefully than for a manned space shot is press coverage planned.

Descriptions of Lynda Bird's wedding dress were zealously kept from persistent reporters until the day of the wedding. Transporting of the six-foot wedding cake from the outside bakery to the White House was done with "necessary security precautions."

Special phones were installed for reporters in an improvised press room in the East Wing. Indeed, vitamin C pills were passed out by White House press secretary Liz Carpenter to those who planned to brave December weather on the White House lawn.

Arrangements were made for phoning the press room as soon as Chuck and Lynda had both said: "I will."

HAPPIEST in the cigarette business these days are the Marvel people, who think the recent Federal Trade Commission tests on nicotine and tar content were just marvelous. Marvels, a pigmy in the world of cigarette giants, came off as the cleanest brand on the market. Since the FTC tests, the Stephano Bros. plant has been busy around the clock and expansion is under way to meet increased cigarette orders from distributors over the country.

Surprise! Stephano Bros. has been around for 72 years but had more success in making tiny cigars than cigarettes until nicotine - tar interest sprang up in the past two years.

"We anticipated that emphasis was going to swing to nicotine-tar content and started making changes two years ago," said the company's 34-year-old president, Constantine Stephano.

"It was simply a matter of anticipating the derby, putting our horse in early, and having him come out of the gate well."

Changes Due In Pentagon When McNamara Leaves

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ten Pentagon changes are likely when Robert McNamara goes.

Large institutions in the long run have a way of reasserting their authority over the men who run them. For awhile, a determined man may have his will, and he may, during his tenure institute systems that will change the institution. But the institution weakens such a man and turns back on his changes. This action is slowed down, but not stopped, when one "strong" man is followed by another. It is unusual that a strong man follows a strong man. It is therefore best to bet on the institution.

By this reasoning, the following changes are likely in the Pentagon regardless of the man who follows McNamara:

1—Undoubtedly, more delegation of authority and decision making will come. Men down the line will surely get more chance at responsibility.

2—Morale will probably go up. The operation will become a little sloppier.

3—The intangibles of war—those things that cannot be measured in computers — will likely receive more consideration.

4—Things will be less exciting. 5—Almost assuredly, there will be less tendency to equate honest difference of opinion in the services with disloyalty to the chief, less internal spying on what officials are saying privately. As a result, officials who disagree with the secretary of defense won't be looking over their shoulders furtively while they work.

6—Pentagon officials will have more time to move ahead on positive programs instead of being embroiled in the "turbulence" brought about by constant reorganizing.

7—Some McNamara reorganizations may fall apart. These are the ones which have been held together in name only by his insistence.

8—A step-up in basic and state-of-the-art research is possible.

9—Greater receptivity is likely to adopting new systems — such as Polaris (a pre-McNamara decision) and a nuclear Navy (which McNamara has dragged his feet on)—with greater speed.

10—A tendency may develop to adopt a greater variety of weapons systems, each to backstop the other. The new men will not likely be so certain as McNamara that they are dead right in the systems chosen and assume that in a war it's impossible to predict exactly what will happen or which weapon will fail to do the job expected of it.

On the other hand, McNamara and his immediate predecessors have made some vital changes in the Pentagon. The most important of these—unification of major services, unification of the budget, systems analysis, computerization of some important functions and cost effectiveness in its true sense of getting the most for the dollar—have been the result of hard-fought changes which began with James Forrestal and continued down through Charles Wilson, Thomas Gates and finally, McNamara.

McNamara's genius has not been in conceiving new ideas or ways of doing things but in his salesmanship and his drive to put ideas into effect. He took concepts begun by his predecessors and whipped them through by persuasiveness and by brute force.

McNamara has had the effect of a strong purgative. He has gutted out some musty ideas and obsolete ways of doing things that everyone recognized as being wrong but most men dared touch only chip by chip. Unfortunately, McNamara has, in cleaning out fat, also carved into some muscle. The Defense Department now needs time to digest those ideas that will work and to eject those changes that weaken it.

Ann Landers: Likes Flying Solo

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am 27, have a fascinating job, and am very content. It so happens that I am not married and I might never meet a man I would want to spend the rest of my life with. So, does this make me a freak?

Yesterday I encountered a college chum whom I had not seen for several years. Her first question was, "Are you married?" When I replied, "No, I am not," she lowered her eyes and said, "Oh, I'm sorry," as if I had told her my mother died.

Where do people get the idea that marriage is the desirable state for one and all? I can name 10 girls I went to school with (all under 30 years of age) who are divorced. Two of these girls have been divorced more than once. One girl has four children, and she is on her third marriage. What, please tell me, is so special about that?

I wish you'd inform your reading public that marriage is not for everyone and that some people are much better off without it.—FLYING SOLO AND LIKING IT

Dear Flying: The notion that ANY marriage is better than no marriage is strictly for the cuckoos. The saddest thing about people who should not be married is that they invariably find each other and learn too late that they both would have been better off single.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem has caused me many sleepless nights. I hope you can help.

I went with John for four years. Twice during that time I became pregnant and miscarried. Both times I avoided our family doctor because I didn't want my parents to know. Although we live in the same city, I had a place of my own and saw them once a week. When I went to the hospital with the miscarriages, I told my family I had a kidney problem. I'm sure they believed me.

John and I have now been married two years, and I am pregnant again. I want to go to our family doctor but I am afraid because of my previous trouble. If he learns of my miscarriages it might appear on my medical record and on the new baby's certificate. Please tell me what to do.—HAUNTED BY THE PAST

Dear Haunted: Go to your family doctor and tell him of your miscarriages. Such information can be vital to the health of your unborn child. A reputable physician is not interested in whether the miscarriages occurred before or after your marriage. And rest assured the information will not appear on your child's birth certificate. Good luck to you.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been keeping steady company with a fine man whose wife passed away two years ago.

At least 10 people have told me that I look very much like his deceased wife. (He has never mentioned it.) I always feel uncomfortable when someone brings up the subject. It puts me in the position of the substitute and I keep wondering if he is making other comparisons in his own mind.

The man wants to marry me, but these thoughts stand in my way. Do you think we could have a good marriage?—MIRROR IMAGE

Dear Image: There are bound to be comparisons, either conscious or unconscious, even when no physical resemblance exists. Don't let this keep you

Closing A Link In The News Chain

The chain of communication plays a vital role in holding our fast-paced, superdynamic civilization together, but it can also be something of a hazard. Seems we got tripped by it recently.

Some weeks back, widespread news reports alleging "endorsement" by the National Council of Churches of a government-financed report on drinking by young people stirred something of a furor. We thought it proper grist for the editorial mill and added our few words worth.

It appears, however, that the NCC did not actually endorse the report, only noted it was being given "serious study" and recommended that "others do likewise."

The news agencies have corrected their original inaccurate reports on the report and we herewith add our link to the chain.

Winds of Change Blowing In Catholic Power Centers

David Poling

By DAVID POLING
Don't be surprised by drastic changes coming in the Catholic power centers of the United States. Not this afternoon or tomorrow morning. But soon. By 1970 there will be new cardinals in Los Angeles and Boston, as well as New York.

Already the fragments of change have touched the largest archdiocese in America — Chicago. Bishop Cody has shown increasing concern for the citizens of the ghetto and the suburbs. For those in the ghetto must be the concern of smug suburbia and a metropolitan bishop like Cody is in the unique, and at times painful, position of bringing the two worlds together.

In Los Angeles, the forces of change, revision and renewal have all but swarmed around the chancellery headquarters of James Francis McIntyre. First it was the rumble started by Father DuBay and his book, "The Hum in a Church." Of late, the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary have notified the 81-year-old prelate that matters of their personal life were going to be personal and not subject to his regulations or dictates.

Since so many of the sisters in this teaching order are obtaining further education, they naturally desire to be part of the university scene and not a medieval replica of European piety. They believe they must be granted the freedom of study and social involvement. This is not helped by the negative stance of Cardinal McIntyre. If this was not enough for him to bear, the Immaculate Heart College, has stated that it will be associated in 1970 with Claremont College, which which is nonsectarian. The only thing for sure is change, East and West.

In Boston, Richard Cardinal Cushing has shown a spirited interest in church renewal and ecumenical relationship. However, at 72, he has requested retirement and seems likely to gain papal acceptance of his desires within the coming year. Since 1939 Cardinal Cushing has touched the lives not only of the Kennedy family, but nearly two million members of the archdiocese of Boston as well. It is not easy to follow a giant, but a successor must be found. Consider these facts:

- Every stick of social dynamite is stacked in the American city, ready to go. The ram-paging currents of black power, the shrill and panicky thrust of white backlash, the uncertain future of parochial education.

- There is experimentation in liturgy, folk masses and home communion.

- There is the brash appearance of the new Dutch catholicism which is an ecclesiastical and theological nightmare to conservative cardinals.

This whole package is in the American city and the cardinal of the future is going to have to go with it, with sympathy, interpretation and lots of cool.

And New York City is the Catholic showpiece of whether or not serious change and 20th-century adaption will be experienced. The late Francis Cardinal Spellman gave leadership in New York since 1932.

Certain personalities within the hierarchy are being mentioned for his post. Some observers of Catholic power believe that Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of Rochester may be just the man for Manhattan. His international fame and stunning Rochester performance since being installed as bishop may be a prelude to a round trip to New York.

Some church insiders are mentioning Bishop Ernest J. Primeau of Manchester, N. H., or Bishop John J. Wright of Pittsburgh. Bishop Wright has it.

been an articulate spokesman for gradual change within the church and vital social action in the life of the secular city. That is the combination required for New York and any other center of Catholic power. But without freedom, the power will be a nostalgic memory.

PARMESAN POLENTA Makes 8 servings.

1 cup enriched cornmeal (White or yellow)
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup freshly and finely grated Parmesan cheese
1 cup cold water
2 1/2 cups boiling water

In a bowl, stir together the cornmeal, salt, cheese and cold water; slowly stir into boiling water. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Cover; cook over low heat for 10 minutes, stirring often. Pour into a baking pan (13 by 9 by 2 inches), spreading evenly. Cool about 25 minutes. Cover with wax paper or plastic wrap. Refrigerate several hours or overnight. Cut chilled mixture crosswise to make 7 rows that are 9 inches long. Cut each row zigzag to make 8 triangles. Conduct Rites For Former Cass Resident CHANDLERVILLE — Funeral services for Vernon C. Reitzel of San Jose, Calif., a former Chandlerville resident, were held in San Jose Dec. 1.

Mr. Reitzel, 37, was killed in an automobile accident in San Jose. He had made his home with a brother, Lyle, since moving from Springfield to California three years ago. While in Springfield he was employed by Black Hardware company.

He was born near Chandlerville March 5, 1930, son of Preston C. and Nadine Reeves Reitzel.

Surviving are two brothers, Sergeant First Class C. Preston Reitzel, stationed in Korea and Lyle of San Jose; four sisters, Mrs. Robert Cross of Santa Ana, Calif., Mrs. Virgil Force of Saratoga, Calif., Mrs. Ralph Grimmert and Mrs. Mardella Wilson, both of Springfield.

He was a 1947 graduate of Chandlerville High School.

CARS COLLIDE ON W. COLLEGE

Two cars collided at the intersection of South Diamond and West College at 1:59 p.m. Friday causing heavy damage to one vehicle. Both drivers escaped injury.

A westbound auto driven by Charles V. Riggs of 830 North Church was attempting a left turn onto Diamond and turned into the path of an eastbound auto driven by Russell G. Jaeger of Springfield.

The Jaeger auto was towed away. Riggs was ticketed by investigating city police for failure to yield the right of way.

Vernon Black, Bluffs Native Dies At 63 Years

BLUFFS — Vernon Black, 63 year old former Bluffs man, died Friday in a St. Louis, Mo., hospital where he had remained a patient since last Sunday when he collapsed on a street in St. Louis after suffering a diabetic coma.

He was employed as a telegraph editor for the St. Louis Post Dispatch.

He was born at Bluffs, April 7, 1904, the son of Leonard and Pearl Tewksberry Black. He is survived by his wife Aurora and a daughter, Mrs. Jane Larson of Webster Groves. There are two sisters and a brother, Mrs. Lester Jackson and Mrs. Cash King, Springfield and Kenneth Black of Kansas City, Mo.

Funeral services will be at 3:30 p.m. Saturday at the Mittelburg Gerber Funeral Home in Webster Groves. Interment will be in Webster Groves cemetery.

FIREMEN ANSWER 2 RUNS FRIDAY

Minor damage to a furnace motor was reported by city firemen Friday night, in one of two alarms answered by the local department.

Firemen said that a blower motor on a furnace at the 1052 West State street residence of Earl Sutcliffe was smoking when they arrived.

Firemen doused the motor with a chemical fire fighting substance.

Minutes later, at 7:42 p.m., firemen extinguished a log fire at the Dr. Walter Frank Sr. residence at 244 Park Street.

Wedeking Rites Held At Bluffs

BLUFFS — Funeral services for Harry Wedeking were held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Bates Funeral Home in Bluffs with Reverend M. D. Goldsborough officiating. Mrs. Margaret Watson was the organist.

Serving as pallbearers were Carl Yeakel, Floyd Hobson, Francis Placke, Lloyd Christison, Raymond Christison and James Baird.

Interment was in Green cemetery where military rites were conducted by Charles Wofford Post 441, American Legion. Participating were Myron Albers and Fred Northcutt, color bearers; Leland Littig, color guard; Robert Lovekamp, commander and William Chambers, chaplain.

Train-Truck Crash Injures Cass Resident

A 57-year old Cass county man was termed in satisfactory condition late Saturday night at Schmitt hospital in Beardstown where he was admitted for treatment of injuries sustained in a truck-train accident at a rail crossing in Virginia on Friday afternoon.

The man was identified as Wilmer J. Severns of route one, Chandlerville, the driver of a pick-up truck that was struck by a B & O train.

State police said that Severns apparently did not see the flashing red lights and pulled onto the tracks in front of the train at the north edge of Virginia, near the junction of Illinois routes 125 and 78.

The force of the impact threw Severns' truck against a nearby parked car, owned by Arthur Crumlin of Virginia. The truck was demolished in the crash.

Authorities listed the time of the accident as about three o'clock.

Funeral Monday For Mrs. Grady

Funeral services for Mrs. Dolly L. Grady, who died Friday morning following a fall near her home here will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday at Cody and Son Memorial Home. Rev. Abraham Brown will officiate and interment will be in Jacksonville East cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the funeral home 7 to 9 p.m. tonight.

She was born at Clarksville, Mo. Oct. 20, 1882, daughter of Reverend Hudson Wallace and Barbara Turner Wallace. She was married Aug. 26, 1912 to Robert Grady, who preceded her in death in 1956.

She leaves a nephew, John Wesley Howard Houston, who was raised in the Grady home and two sisters, Beulah Gardner of Jacksonville and Anna Wilkerson of Louisiana, Mo.

Thirteen brothers and sisters preceded her in death.

Mrs. Grady was a member of the McCabe Methodist church.

DESCRIBES HOLDUP—Mrs. Earl Tonn of 714 South Clay, one of the operators of Tonn's Corner Market, at the intersection of North Clay and East Independence, shows fellow employee W. E. Marine how an armed man demanded money from the cash drawer at the store Friday afternoon. Mrs. Tonn said it was the first time in 20 years in the grocery business she had been held at gun point.

Armed Robber Flees Police Friday After Grocery Store Heist

A bold armed robber escaped police Friday after a daring daylight hold-up at Tonn's Corner Market which netted the man about $70 in bills.

Police, bolstered by all off-duty personnel, county and state police, searched Friday night and Saturday for the man who made his getaway in a black 1958 Bel-Air Chevrolet car following the robbery.

He was described as being about 5 foot 6 inches in height, weighing about 140 pounds, and appearing to be about 30 years old. The robber reportedly has a blond flat top haircut, and was wearing a tan jacket and pants.

The armed robbery was the second such occurrence within 48 hours in the city. Police said they do not believe the armed robber at the Adams Quick Clean laundry Wednesday night was the same man who committed the hold-up Friday.

After the man fled the corner market, he jumped into the vehicle identified above, and fled at a high rate of speed east on Independence.

Earl Tonn, one of the owners of the grocery, said that he was able to get a partial description of the car, but said that it was "fishtailing" so badly, he couldn't read the license plate.

Describes Hold-Up—Mrs. Helen Tonn said that the man walked into the store a few minutes after three o'clock and went to the rear of the grocery.

"I was cutting chicken," her husband Earl said. "I said to the man 'Nice day isn't it?' and he replied 'Yes.' Tonn said he then walked to the front counter, where Mrs. Tonn was busy.

There were no other customers or employees in the store. Another employee, W. E. Marine of 710 South Clay, had stepped out of the store for a few minutes.

"He asked me for a pack of cigarettes, and when I turned around to give them to him, he had this gun pointed at me."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanders of Arenzville route one became parents of twin daughters born at 5:41 a.m. and 5:47 a.m. Saturday at Passavant hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Monty Crowder of 993 East College avenue became parents of a daughter born at 6:57 a.m. Saturday at Passavant hospital.

PERCY UNDER FIRE IN VIETNAM—This picture, made from a television screen, shows Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., wielding a pistol and heading for underbrush after coming under Communist mortar fire at village of Dakson, South Vietnam, Tuesday. With Percy is Dennis Smith, 28, of Milton, Mass., who handed the senator the pistol and retained the carbine. Smith is a U.S. refugee official and has been in South Vietnam for seven months. Miss Mary Margaret Wilsey has arrived home from Western Illinois University to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wilsey.

Rescue Victims Of Plane Crash From Mountain

CORONA, N.M. (AP) — Five men, nearly frozen but alive, were carried down a mountain-side to ambulances Saturday from where their single-engine airplane crashed during a snow storm.

A sixth survivor earlier reached a ranch near the central New Mexico community of Corona after walking four hours from where the plane crashed Friday in the Gallinas Mountains west of U.S. 54 and about 15 miles southwest of Corona.

Maj. J. E. Stout of Holloman Air Force Base made the walking four hour trip over rugged canyon terrain with a broken ankle, a broken hand and face cuts.

Getting directions from the major, who was taken to the Holloman base hospital, three ambulances following a snow plow pushed through a snow-blocked rural road to near the crash site. They picked up the other five survivors who were carried down the mountainside in tracked and ski snow vehicles.

Helicopters helped guide the vehicles to the plane.

Cockin Rites Held Saturday

Pallbearers were Robert Hayworth, Frank Judd, James Cumby and Joseph Reardon.

Burial was in Memorial Lawn cemetery.

Sangamon GOP To Back Ogilvie

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The candidacy of Richard Ogilvie of Chicago for the Republican nomination for governor received a boost Saturday when Sangamon County GOP precinct committeemen voted to endorse him.

Ogilvie received 107 votes in the closed meeting to 16 for John Henry Altorf of Peoria, another announced candidate.

State Rep. David Jones of Springfield, Sangamon County GOP chairman, said no votes were cast for other possible candidates, but they were notified of the meeting, State Sen. Arthur Gottschalk, R-Flossmoor, and former Gov. William G. Stratton of Chicago are expected to announce their candidacies.

There are 209 Republican precinct committeemen in the county. About 150 attended. Some did not vote in the secret ballot. Many of these were employees of the office of Ray Page, state school superintendent, who has maintained neutrality.

Persons attending the meeting quoted supporters of Ogilvie as citing his election as Cook County sheriff in 1962 and as President of the Cook County Board in 1966. They said he demonstrated his devotion to the party when he helped elect the Cook County treasurer, sheriff and superintendent of schools in 1966.

Altorf supporters were quoted as saying it was too early to make endorsements that all candidates had not presented their credentials to the public and that Ogilvie should finish his term of board president to insure Republicans keep the Cook County patronage jobs available.

He explained that the river's current and the 40-degree temperature of the water prohibited effective use of the skin divers.

A full moon shone on the disaster site Saturday night, with temperatures in the area below freezing.

Authorities refused to speculate on how many vehicles might be in the river. "Any number we might give would only be a ballpark guess," said Maj. Jack Seitzinger, Civil Defense coordinator for Ohio.

A temporary morgue was set up in this town of 6,000 persons to receive and identify any additional bodies found.

The bridge, built in 1923, was owned by West Virginia and had been inspected for structural integrity in 1965.

Jack Seitzinger, coordinator of the Civil Defense rescue operation, said at the time of the inspection two years ago "no defects were found."

All commercial river traffic on a 35-mile stretch above and below the bridge was halted early Friday, and plans were being discussed to lower the water level at the disaster scene by closing locks at an upstream dam.

Army Engineers said the bridge keeled over on its downstream side into water about 40 to 50 feet deep, but that it would be some time before it would be known what caused the span to collapse.

Eyewitnesses estimated about 75 cars were on the bridge when the accident occurred. Some of the vehicles tumbled onto the river's banks on both sides of the stream and were crushed by the bridge's heavy steel superstructure.

MINOR ACCIDENT ON SQUARE SATURDAY

City police reported minor property damage as a result of a two-car accident on the public square Saturday afternoon. Officers said that a westbound unit, driven by Ronald M. Saunders of Chicago, collided with a car operated by Pamela S. Walpole of route one, Alexander.

The Walpole unit was backing from a parking space. Time of the accident was listed at 4:25 p.m.

MODEL RAILROAD CARS STOLEN FROM GARAGE

A South East street resident reported to city police Saturday night that 13 model railroad cars, which he termed collectors' items, were stolen from his garage.

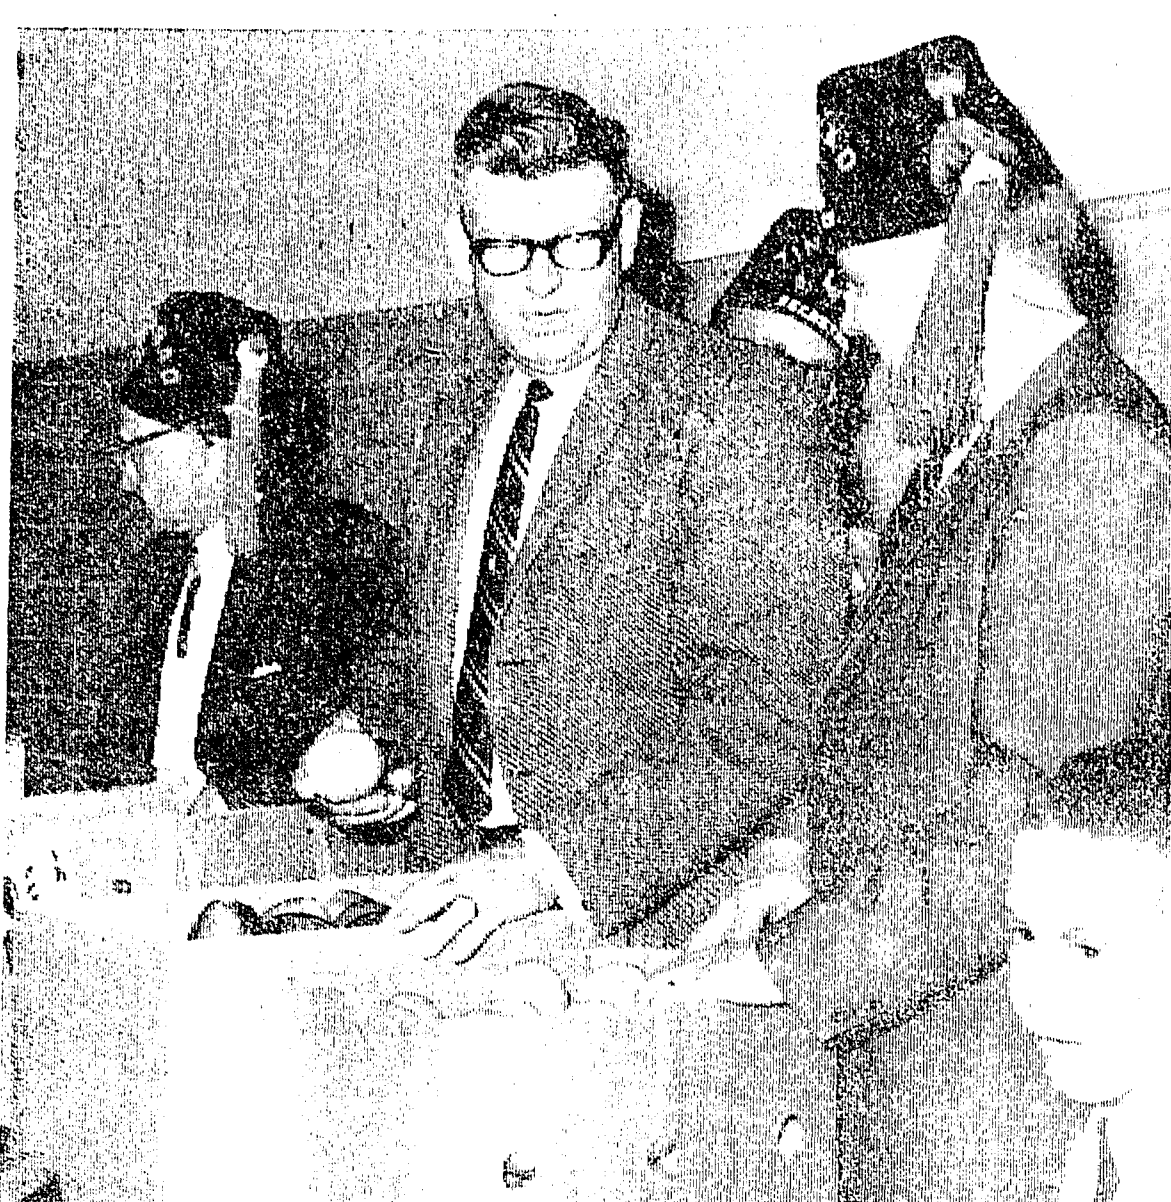

Joe Clegg of 802 South East told city police that the Lionel O gauge cars were taken from his garage at the rear of his home sometime during the past two weeks.

3 Soldiers Die, 21 Are Injured As Bus Crashes

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A bus carrying 40 Ft. Bliss soldiers home for Christmas leave skidded on an ice-and-snow covered highway some 95 miles east of El Paso and overturned Saturday, killing three men and critically injuring four others.

Twenty other occupants of the bus were injured, but not critically. Thirteen were unhurt, military and state police sources said.

There was no immediate identification of the dead and injured.

Convoys of ambulances went at the top speed allowable—around 30 miles an hour—over hazardous roadways to pick up the dead and injured.

After nightfall Ft. Bliss finally was able to land a medical evacuation helicopter in the crash area, a sparsely populated mountain country.

The evacuation of the victims continued into the night.

A hastily-thrown up hospital was put into operation near the tiny town of Salt Flat. Army doctors were brought in by helicopter with medical supplies.

Bruce Bissonet, a reporter for the El Paso Times, flew over the scene in a private airplane as ice formed on the craft's wings.

"We came in about 200 feet above a deck of solid rain and drizzle," Bissonet said. "Some soldiers were holding up a tarp mounted on stocks... there were some brownish-colored sleeping bags near a fire in the ice and snow."

The less seriously injured were taken to a pumping station a short distance away.

21 Paso police units lined up outside town to give an escort to the nine ambulances coming back with the injured. Ft. Bliss officials said all the victims would be taken to William Beaumont Army hospital in El Paso.

The ambulance trip was made on extremely hazardous highways. One ambulance driver from El Paso was slightly injured when his vehicle spun off the road and crashed into an embankment 65 miles east of El Paso on the trip out.

PLAN $600,000 DRAINAGE JOB NEAR QUINCY

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Paul Findley announced Saturday that he had just been notified by the District Engineer, Rock Island Corps of Engineers, that a contract award was authorized with the Midwest Dredging Co. of Ursa, Ill., for $600,000.

The project is stage 4 of the Indian Grave Drainage District near Quincy. Work on the project will begin in January.

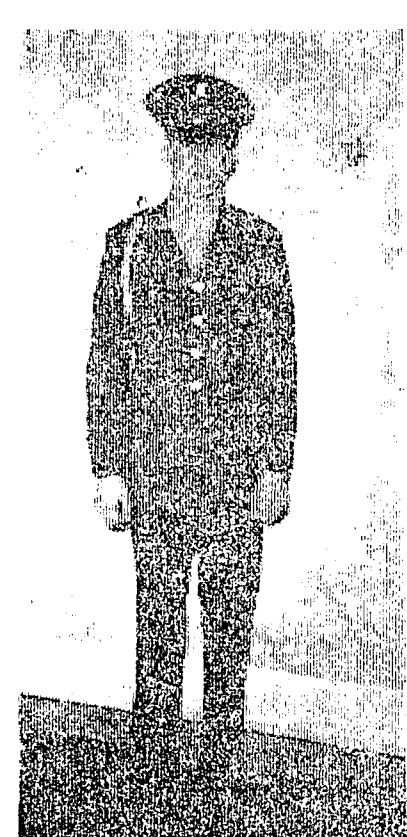

Findley said, "this project was suspended when the administration froze funds for all federal work projects in October. This unfinished levee system was a weak link in Mississippi River flood control and if neglected would have had disastrous results to crops and property within the 20,000-acre district."

The flood in 1965 caused approximately $2,692,300 damage.

King Glum

The royal land and property were not confiscated and that budget funds would continue to be allocated for royal family support.

It was believed that the new government set up after the king's attempted coup was feeling an increasing sense of isolation.

No country has yet extended recognition to the government now headed by Col. George Papadopoulos, strong man of the junta who plotted the April coup.

In the immediate wake of the king's disastrous counter-coup, the major Western powers rebuffed the junta. Ambassadors of the United States, Britain, France, West Germany and Italy refused an invitation to meet with Papadopoulos.

Athens informants said Papadopoulos had advised the ambassadors he would receive the ambassadors in his office, but they excused themselves by saying they had received no instructions from their governments.

The junta-appointed regent, George Zolotas, also had asked to see the ambassadors and received the same reply, the sources added.

State Department press officer Robert McCloskey told a news conference in Washington Friday that Phillips Tabot, the American ambassador in Athens, had had informal contacts with the military government.

There was talk that a temporary compromise might be found for the present in the form of a transition regency headed by a member of the king's family, possibly his 25-year-old sister, Princess Irene.

Apart from this, Constantine appeared to have only three choices:

—To return to Greece now on the best terms he can extract from the colonels.

—To set up a government in exile and defy the regime from abroad.

—To give up for the time being and live as a private citizen, biding his time for changes that would bring him back on better terms.

Celebrate Boston Tea Party, Dump French Frames

BOSTON (AP)—The 194th anniversary of the Boston Tea Party was observed on the decks of an old sailing ship Saturday, but this time French frames were thrown overboard with two crates of tea.

"We're still a little bit sore at the British," said Robert C. Hagopian of Watertown, an organizer of the commemorative ceremony, "but we're really steamed up about Gen. De Gaulle and his ingratitude to the United States."

Hagopian, an official of the Disabled American Veterans, said only a "few American dollars" worth of frames were used.

The article, written by special correspondent Yuri Barskyov from Washington, did not explicitly praise or criticize Kennedy, but it seemed calculated to give the Soviet public a generally favorable impression.

The newspaper noted that Kennedy had pledged support for President Johnson but it said American policies had "its own laws" and many did not accept the pledge as final.

It also depicted the candidacy of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., as the "first battle of the advance guard" to determine the strength of Johnson's position, "after which the main struggle for control of the Democratic camp will follow."

The Izvestia article, one of the longest studies of the U.S. presidential campaign seen here, appeared the day before the scheduled arrival of Gov. George Romney of Michigan, a declared Republican presidential candidate. The Soviet press has made no recent mention of Romney.

Izvestia said an "open challenge" to President Johnson, the official leader of the party, threatens not only to split the ranks of the Democrats on the eve of the election but also to cost them their power.

It said that, according to observers, Kennedy did not want this and, although his "forces are ready to clash, he is waiting for his hour." It made no prediction about when this would come.

Izvestia said many Americans were placing their hopes on Kennedy because of the "discrepancy of his views with those of the White House, mainly on the war in Vietnam and also on internal political problems."

The local president, Byrd Rich of West Frankfort, and 20 men fired for picketing are expected to be called to the hearing.

Although there was picketing Friday, Judge Johnson said he was not presented evidence of any evidence of any violation of the temporary injunction.

Little picketing was apparent Saturday, except at Old Ben Mines No. 21 near Sesser and No. 24 near Benton. Picketing has been peaceful, with few of the miners leaving their cars.

Chester Gossett, UMW leader in the region, said pickets appeared Friday at two Peabody Coal Co. mines near Shawneetown.

Mrs. Thomas Hart, Mrs. Jesse Batley and Glen Lovekamp have all returned to their homes from Passavant Hospital.

Russ Newspaper Favors Kennedy As Demo Choice

MOSCOW (AP) — Izvestia examined the political situation in the United States Saturday and said Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has "quite real chances" of taking over the leadership of the Democratic party and becoming president.

The paper said this was because of his "personal popularity, dissatisfaction in the ruling Democratic party with the policy of its leaders, and the big financial resources of the Kennedy family."

The Soviet government organ also said Americans saw in Kennedy a "figure capable of putting an end to the senseless Vietnamese adventure."

The article, written by special correspondent Yuri Barskyov from Washington, did not explicitly praise or criticize Kennedy, but it seemed calculated to give the Soviet public a generally favorable impression.

The newspaper noted that Kennedy had pledged support for President Johnson but it said American policies had "its own laws" and many did not accept the pledge as final.

LBJ Signs Bill For Postal Hike. Wage Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed into law Saturday legislation boosting the pay of all the government's civilian employees and the military while hiking the cost of mailing a letter from five to six cents.

Johnson signed the bill in a White House cabinet room. He said he was unwrapping a Christmas package that will brighten the holiday of all men in uniform and all government employees.

The pay raises are retroactive to Oct. 1, and government officials have been planning to provide the back pay to employees before Christmas. A few military personnel already have received the larger checks.

The bills that became law provide for pay boosts of $2.7 billion each for military and civilian employees over three years—a total of $5.4 billion.

In addition, the Post Office Department will get $900 million a year in extra revenue, Johnson said, from rate increases on the various classes of mail.

Higher postal rates — including six cents for a letter and 10 cents for air mail—take effect next Jan. 7.

In addition to the immediate pay increases, the legislation provides further raises next July 1 and July 1, 1969 for both military and civilian personnel.

With the higher salary scales, Johnson said, federal pay will compare with industry's pay.

"Government employees and their families will no longer have to live on the margin," he said. "This bill emancipates them."

And, he said, the military will receive equal recognition and justice.

"Patriotism," the President said, "can be its own reward—and thank God we have so many gallant men and women willing to live and die by that belief. But that is no excuse for making patriotism a penalty."

Judith Elaine Junk

FRANKLIN—The Reverend and Mrs. Ken Junk of Franklin announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Judith Elaine, to Gerald A. Lanpher, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Lanpher of Independence, Missouri. A wedding in June at the Franklin Methodist church is planned.

The bride-elect is a senior at Kansas Wesleyan University in Salina, majoring in English and elementary education. She is a member of Gamma Delta Gamma service and social sorority and Lambda Iota Tau, International English Fraternity. Miss Junk is listed in who's who among students in American colleges and universities.

Her fiancé attended University of Missouri at Columbia and is presently a senior in the School of Pharmacy at the University where he is a member of Kappa Psi, pharmaceutical fraternity and Rho Chi, honorary fraternity.

Weddings PARTIES and CLUBS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sluder

MURRAYVILLE—The sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sluder of Murrayville route one, falls on Sunday, December twenty-fourth. No special celebration is planned.

Miss Bertha Spreen and Charles Sluder were married at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Spreen, at Pisgah. They are parents of three daughters, Mabel, wife of Paul Craddock, and Helen, wife of Gilbert Crow, both of Jacksonville, and Mary, wife of Laurence Rawlings of Murrayville. There are three grand children and two great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allen Rosenberger

Rosenberger and Burkey vows in Grace Chapel

A ceremony in the Chapel at Grace Methodist church here united in marriage Miss Elizabeth Ann Burkey and Henry Allen Rosenberger. The Rev. Floyd J. Ekin performed the ceremony Saturday evening, December ninth.

Pine and baskets of white gladioli were used at the altar with burning tapers in branched candelabra.

The former Miss Burkey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Milton Burkey of Forreston, Illinois route one. Mr. Rosenberger is the son of John H. Rosenberger, 1866 Cedar street.

The groom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Rosenberger of Alton, attended the couple as best man and matron of honor. Miss Beverly J. Hastings was bridesmaid and Herman Mayes was groomsmen.

Leon D. Rosenberger, brother of the groom, seated guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length gown of white velvet with lace trim. Her detachable train was also trimmed in lace. A pearl and crystal forward headpiece held her veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of stephanotis and carnations centering a white orchid on an ivy base.

Both attendants to the bride wore conventional length gowns in Christmas red velvet with empire waists and straight skirts. They wore white fur hats and carried poinsettia decked white fur muffs.

The mother of the bride wore teal blue with black accessories. Her flowers were white roses.

A reception was held in the church social room. Assisting were Mrs. Richard Boudreau, Mrs. Donald Little of Warrensburg, Illinois; Mrs. Lane McMillion of Amboy, Ill.; Mrs. Kenneth Roop, Leaf River, Illinois and Miss Priscilla Burkey of Forreston.

The newlyweds will make their home at 332 South Diamond street. The bride graduated from Oregon Community High School in 1962 and from Passavant Hospital School of Nursing. She is presently a staff nurse at Passavant. The groom graduated in 1961 from Jacksonville High School, later from Hardin Business College and is a four year veteran of the Air Force. He is employed by the Department of Safety, State of Illinois.

ARENZVILLE CLUB MEETING HELD DECEMBER 12TH

ARENZVILLE — Mrs. L. J. Wessler was the presiding officer at the Arenzville Woman's Club meeting held December 12. The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was led by Mrs. August Hansmeier. Roll call was answered by 21 members.

Mrs. Wessler reported on the 20th District Board meeting which she had attended recently in Jacksonville.

Mrs. Harold Wessler gave a history of the Song of the Month, "America," which was sung along with a number of Christmas carols.

Mrs. Eloise Orwig of Beardstown presented the program, demonstrating the making of such Christmas decorations as roping for doorways, wreaths, and cemetery pillows.

A collection was received for Boys Town of Illinois.

The club members enjoyed a gift exchange.

Mrs. Ralph Clark was awarded the attendance prize, a white poinsettia.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Frances Hobrock, Miss Mary Louise Lutkehus, Mrs. Paul Manuel and Mrs. Andrew Wheeler.

Breakville and Smith nuptials at Calvary Baptist

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Breakville, November newlyweds, are making their home at 905 South Diamond street since their wedding the 26th, at the Calvary Baptist church here.

The Reverend Leroy Hedrick performed the ceremony. The pastor and Marsha Vieira provided appropriate music, accompanied by Janet Hedrick.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Smith, 511 North East street. The groom is the son of Mrs. Thomas Sweeney, 502 West Walnut street.

Mrs. Robert Smith of Murrayville was matron of honor. Mary Jane Edmonds, Cindy Breakville of Springfield and Mary Jane Matijavich were flower girls.

Frank Breakville of Springfield was best man. Allen Edwards was ring bearer. Jerry Gully, Larry Matijavich and Grant Breakville were members of the groom's party.

The bride wore a short white satin and lace gown with a crown of pearls holding her veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of red roses. Mrs. Smith wore off-white with beige head-dress and accessories. The flower girls were in blue and white with matching headpieces.

The mother of the bride wore blue with beige accessories and the groom's mother wore the same combination of colors. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at the church following the afternoon ceremony. Assisting were Judy Mareci, Helen Rhodes, Debbie and Karen Smith.

The bride attended Franklin High School and Western Illinois University and is employed by the Schmitt Chevrolet Agency here.

Among the guests at the wedding were R. J. Robertson family, Mrs. Francis Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Breakville, all of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lewey, Raymond, Ill.; Mrs. Cliff Walker and Sandy, Murrayville; Miss Karen Smith, Springfield, Mo.

The entire wedding was taped and given the couple as a gift.

First Christian church women meet at church

Mrs. Kay Cosner was hostess for the Thursday evening meeting of the Women's Fellowship of First Christian church Dec. 7th. She was assisted by Mrs. Edith Lamkular. The meeting was conducted by the president, Joyce Peck.

Twelve members and one guest attended. Devotions were offered by Sharon Brown using the scriptures.

Mrs. Cosner, missionary chairman, reported on Brazilia and the new mission work reported by L. David Sanders and the Brazil Christian Mission.

During the business session the president read a thank you from Edgar D. Allen, S. N., stationed in Puerto Rico.

The box was prepared for the Phillips Missionaries in Germany. The Fellowship is now planning a box for Missionary Bill Rees and family to assist them with their work in Hong Kong.

The special feature, God's Care Package, and a poem, Why Can't It Be? were given by Audrey Weaver. Prayer closed the meeting.

Rosemary Rives was in charge of recreation during the social hour. Prizes went to Rose Fattie, Bonnie Bowen, Pearl Dildine and Jean Jackson. Refreshments were served by the hostesses. Mrs. Cosner entertained with organ selections in Lipstick is perhaps the most misused cosmetic in the world. So many women are careless in its application.

What is the proper way to apply your lipstick?

A brush is absolutely necessary for the proper application of lipstick.

Start at the middle of the mouth. Draw the brush out to the corners. For the upper lip, extend the line slightly beyond the corners.

If your lips have a tendency to "frown," here's a tip. Give a subtle upswing to the corners. Now fill with your regular lipstick.

Expect to take some time with your lipstick. It will take a day or two for you to get the feel of using a brush.

Whatever method of travel you use, you will want attractive luggage. In a way it represents you. It should have a polished look.

Dirt and stains, even stubborn ones can be quickly wiped away. Use a cloth saturated with baby oil. Employ another soft cloth to remove the excess oil. Buff the leather or vinyl to a well-polished look.

Leather and vinyl shoes and handbags also will respond to this treatment. Baby oil will remove dirt and stains. It helps preserve the leather and keeps it soft and beautiful.

You should have inconspicuous, sturdy name tags for your possessions. Clip your name and address from an expired credit card. Punch a hole at one end and tie it to luggage. These name tags are almost indestructible.

Bryan Addresses Chautauqua

You never know what you've got around the place until you clean house.

Last week Dr. Walter B. Hendrickson, professor of American history, MacMurray College, cleaned out his desk. It probably didn't need it, as he has been there only since 1940.

He chanced across a yellowed sheet 8 1/2"x6 1/4" printed on both sides. The masthead proclaimed it was Vol. 1, No. 1 of the Chautauqua Edition. Jacksonville Courier, issued Friday, Aug. 20, 1915.

That was a bad year for "tented culture" at Nichols Park. It rained every day.

It is doubtful if the Courier continued its Chautauqua Edition. The paper was strongly Democratic and William Jennings Bryan, "The Great Commoner" and "The Silver-Tongued Orator" was to open the 1915 Chautauqua season with flourish, bang and profit.

Ex-Secretary of State Bryan was in great demand those days, for he had just left President Wilson's cabinet in protest of the administration's complete disinterest in its so-called "neutrality" in the war between England and France vs. Germany and Austria that was later to be labeled World War I.

Bryan prepared a speech titled "The Causeless War." It ran an hour and 20 minutes.

Nearly everybody wanted to pay heed to Washington's advice and stay out of the war, so nearly everybody wanted to hear Bryan. He was in as much demand as was Charles A. Lindbergh just prior to Pearl Harbor.

Bryan may have been a common man, but his lecture fee of $1,000 was not so common. But he was worth the money.

He lectured at the Lincoln, Ill., Chautauqua the following week. Never before, or after, was such a giant crowd on the grounds. The auditorium seated 5,400, but there were more than that number standing in a giant semi-circle around the edge.

A Powerful Voice No microphones, no public address system in those days. Yet the crowd kept quiet, for the entire 80 minutes, and everybody heard the master orator. The front page of the Chautauqua edition of the Courier bore telegraph news dealing with the U-boat sinking of a British ship that took the lives of 39 people, including two Americans.

The reverse carried a story on Bryan's arrival in Jacksonville. It was undoubtedly written by James O. Monroe, then the city editor who left soon afterwards to acquire and turn the Collinsville Herald into one of the most influential weeklies in Illinois.

It read:

W. J. BRYAN IS HERE; VISITS BOYHOOD HOME

Great Commoner Arrives in Heavy Rain — Entertained at Home of M. F. Dunlap

William Jennings Bryan, distinguished American, recent secretary of state and former president of Jacksonville, is the guest of the Chautauqua today. Mr. Bryan brings with him Mrs. Bryan, which makes him doubly welcome. Through no fault of the management or patrons of the Chautauqua, we accord our honored guests a wet reception — water wet. But then Mr. Bryan has the reputation of being on the water wagon and possibly he doesn't mind it.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan arrived in Jacksonville over the Chicago Alton railroad from Peoria at 10:10 o'clock Friday forenoon. At the depot to meet Mr. and Mrs. Bryan were M. F. Dunlap and Dr. Carl E. Black. From the station the party was driven first to the residence of the late Dr. H. K. Jones, 505 West College avenue, where Mr. Bryan roomed while attending Illinois College and which he wished to see during his visit here.

From the Jones residence the party went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Dunlap, where a luncheon was served at noon. The following persons being guests: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryan, Judge and Mrs. Owen P. Thompson, Dr. Carl E. Black, president of the Chautauqua association, and Mrs. Black; H. H. Bancroft, platform manager of the Chautauqua, and Mrs. Bancroft; Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Price of Chicago, special friends of the Bryans; Mrs. Irvin Dunlap, mother of M. F. Dunlap; Mrs. S. E. Morton, Mayor Henry J. Rodgers, Dr. Grace Dewey, an intimate friend of Mrs. Bryan, and Dr. Josephine Milligan.

The subject announced for Mr. Bryan's address this afternoon is "The Causeless War." Probably no man in the world today is capable of treating this timely subject in so able a manner as he.

The tenters at the Chautauqua who moved in Thursday night spent rather a wet night of it Thursday night. This morning the ground was covered with water in all the low places and the rain kept up a steady downpour. Those who had provided floors in their tents were more fortunate than the others. Such a rain as the one today, however, gets everywhere, nearly, and there were none among the big tent family who did not feel the discomforts of the situation to some extent. Fortunately, the big tabernacle is almost new and an excellent canvas and the discomforts are lessened when beneath it.

The inclement weather on Bryan day is a severe blow to the promoters of the Chautauqua. The coming of the "Great Commoner" has been heralded far and wide and people in every community for many miles around were planning to attend. It is confidently believed that not less than 10,000 persons would have been on the Chautauqua grounds this afternoon if the weather had been favorable.

An Unusual Friendship M. F. Dunlap was a close friend of Bryan. The fact that he was president of the Ayers National bank made the friendship all the more remarkable. For most men shuddered whenever Bryan's name was mentioned. During two of his campaigns for the presidency Dunlap was the Illinois delegate to the National Democratic committee.

The weather was disastrous. The special trains scheduled to come in from all directions were cancelled. The special street cars to the park stood in the company's car barn. Less than 500 people sat under the dripping canvas to hear the great orator.

He halved his usual fee, settling for $500. This was of some help, but it rained all day Saturday, and the Jacksonville Chautauqua season was ruined. The deficit was immense and the patrons were heavily assessed to square accounts.

We don't have any such orators as Bryan today, although you'll have to admit Ev D. is mighty good.

But we still have the weather forecaster who is just as accurate today as he was 52 years ago.

The forecast for Saturday was "Partly cloudy, except possible rain in extreme north-east portion."

And it rained all day in Jacksonville.

DOMESTIC

December, 1867

The pork packing business in Chicago is making giant strides this season. The receipts of hogs for last week were 133,880, live and 7,168 dressed. Total, 141,058 head. This is the largest number ever received in any one week in Chicago, or any other city in the world.

The newest idea in financial affairs is the practice of hoarding the little nickel five cent coin, so convenient for change, much to the disgust of retail dealers generally. Hundreds are stowed away as fast as collected; for what purpose is beyond our comprehension, as an advance of ten cents or so on the pound of the metal of which they are chiefly composed would hardly pay the rent of old stock-ing-leg depositories.

A New York World's special says that the committee on ways and means find that the government ought to receive as whisky tax $305,573,400, whereas the actual receipts were only $28,000,000.

At a recent sheriff's sale in Bullock county, Alabama, real estate and railroad stock sold at remarkably low figures. Land sold from five cents to twenty cents per acre, and railroad stock at ten cents on the dollar.

Within twelve days from the time the United States flag was hoisted at Sitka, Alaska, seventy Americans have arrived there. There were a few miners and mechanics among them, but the majority were men of business.

The strongest and best argument urged in favor of the ratification of the treaty with the Sandwich Islands is that while the United States would lose $150,000 a year, in sugar revenue, she would secure to herself the freedom of the islands, their uses for all practical purposes, populate them with Americans, and have a fair pretext for resisting their occupation by England or France as an appendage of those crowns.

It is rare that editors indulge in a drop, but when they do their readers find them out. Witness the following melancholy event:

Yesterday morning, at four p.m., a man with a heel in the hole of his stocking, committed suicide by swallowing a dose of arsenic. The inquest of the verdict returned a jury that the deceased came to the facts in accordance with the death. He leaves a child and six small wives to lament the end of his untimely death. In death we are in the midst of life.

They will be cordially met by the gentlemanly clerks of that establishment, and upon inspection of the fine new stock of nicely fitting fashionable clothing there to be seen, will at once invest in a tip top suit. The farmers are bringing large numbers of fine, fat Christmas turkeys into town. Let them come. Don't forget us! From the Beardstown Central Illinoisian:

We wish it distinctly understood that we have been promised a turkey for Christmas. Our friends and patrons can rest easy now as we shall probably not need anything more for the year, not even greenbacks, though it would be marvelous if we could get a surfeit of both. Oh, turkey! Oh, greenbacks! Oh, Christmas! We wish you were all here now.

The Sunday schools propose to take charge of affairs Christmas eve, with entertainments and infinitum. This is all very proper and right and we hope that all may enjoy themselves hugely.

The Virginia Courier very sensibly gives us credit for doing right in the defense of Beardstown, and says he respects us for the honesty displayed in contending for what we think is right. Now do the other thing we advise you to, and you will get straightened out after a while. Stop your lying, and then say nothing at all, as you once promised to, and one will ever be the worst off for it.

Theatre: An aged Mormon arose, and went out with his twenty-four wives, angrily stating he "wouldn't sit and see a play where a man made such a cussed fuss over one woman." Why is a husband like a Mississippi steamboat? Because he never knows when he's going to get a blowing up.

Tobias Stone of New York and Ivan Erdos of Los Angeles won the rubber bridge championship in 1966. The untimely death of Ivan this fall caused Stone to defend with Philip Feldman of New York. They reached the quarter finals where they ran up against the eventual winners. Stone's jump to four spades in one of the qualifying matches was typical rubber bridge technique. It would also have been effective in tournament play since it shut East and West out of a cheap save at five clubs which would only be set two tricks on perfect defense. West opened the seven of hearts. Dummy played low and East's ten lost to Stone's king. At this point most rubber bridge players would have conceded a club and two hearts and taken game and rubber. Stone saw a remote chance for an overtrick and since that 30 points might decide the match, Stone went after it.

He played a diamond to dummy's ace and ruffed a diamond. A low spade to the eight put him back in dummy again. He ruffed another diamond and stopped for a moment to lay down his ace of clubs. East dropped the ten and was left with king-queen-deuce of the suit.

South led another trump to dummy. East, who had discarded a heart on the first trump lead, let his deuce of clubs go. Stone led and ruffed dummy's last diamond and played out his seven of clubs. East had to win the trick with the queen and no matter what he led at this point, Stone had an overtrick at his four spade contract.

Not too important in rubber bridge and it turned out to make no difference in that match, but if East had been really alert he would have managed to hang on to that deuce of clubs so that West would have been able to

Negro Comedian Achieves Long Dreamed Of Goal

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—In 1940 George Kirby, 16, a porter in a Chicago night club, dreamed a big dream.

"I wanted to become the first Negro comedian to stand flat-footed in front of a microphone and do my act without having to break into a buck and wing dance, roll my eyes or wear funny clothes," recalled Kirby, currently appearing at the Royal Box here.

George achieved that pioneering goal a long time ago. As mimic, raconteur, singer, dancer, pianist and actor. He has been in two films and ranks as one of the most popular performers on the nation's supper club circuit.

The chunky 240-pound comic has even reached that height of all current heights in the entertainment world—stardom in a televised beer commercial.

Small wonder that George now earns several thousand dollars a week and brings along his own valet when he travels.

"I came from show business people," he said. "My father played all the stringed instruments, my mother and aunt were singers, and my uncle did blackface comedy."

"After a year and a half in high school, I had to quit and get a job so I could help out at the house."

George worked first "as a towel puller in a laundry," then as a night club porter. He earned $75 a week.

"I'd leave home at 3:30 in the afternoon, and get back home the next morning at five o'clock so tired I'd fall asleep on my knees saying my prayers," he said, and added with a touch of pride:

"When I returned to that same night club later as a performer, I found they had four porters and three ice machines doing the work I'd once done there by myself."

Kirby learned his trade by assiduously studying entertainers at the club and occasionally filling in for one who fell sick.

During the World War II he spent three years as a combat engineer in Europe and the Philippines.

"I wouldn't have missed that experience for anything," he said, "although at the time, like everybody else, I grieved about being in the Army."

Name Officers For Old Orchard Country Club

PITTSFIELD—Three new directors were elected at the Old Orchard Country Club annual meeting held December 13, in the Lions Club room. Elmer B. Meyers, James Clark and Vincent Zimmerman all of Pittsfield will replace Ab Ransom, and Toby Smith of Pittsfield, and Charles Birch of Griggsville, whose terms as directors expire.

After the regular meeting, the old and new board members held an organizational session. Elmer Meyers is the incoming president, replacing Richard Frazier Sr.; Dick Niebur is the new vice-president; and Eldon Atwood secretary-treasurer.

The treasurer, Eldon Atwood presented his annual report and the auditor, Ronald C. Edwards of Pittsfield, gave his report for the eleven months, ending October 31. Edwards also made some recommendations in his report which in his estimation would "give more and better information to assist the board of directors to manage the club with decisions based on information."

Concrete footing has been poured by Barber Construction, contractors for the new clubhouse, and it is hoped the building will be ready for use in May 1968.

Pittsfield Notes

The M and M bridge club met with Mrs. Clark King for a Christmas luncheon and gift exchange, Thursday, December 14.

Junior Parentals met at the home of Mrs. Tom Plattner, December 14. A silent auction was held and final plans were made for the "breakfast with Santa" which was held Saturday morning, December 16 at the Christian church in Pittsfield.

Our big old 18" Diagonal Measure set

Our compact new 19" Diagonal Measure set

Sylvania made their TV set smaller and came up with a bigger picture.

It wasn't easy.

Sylvania started chipping away at their old black and white cabinet. Cutting corners here and there.

And came up with a trim set that has a big 19" diagonal measure rectangular screen with squared out corners. (Fact is, the new bright screen is 12 sq. in. bigger than the old one.)

But while Sylvania was busy cutting corners outside, they didn't cut a thing inside. Where there's the top-rated "Power Master" chassis, transistorized noise suppression circuit. And many other goodies, too complicated to mention here.

Back on the outside, they finished some sets beige and some ebony. And topped the whole thing off with a wear-proof handle.

Now you're probably wondering how many corners you'll have to cut to buy this nifty portable.

None. We've cut them for you.

The price: about $140

Sylvania's $99.95 portable with air suspension speakers isn't hard to take.

Model 410GY

Don't let the light luggage look fool you. It's loaded. And after all, in a stereo, it's what meets the ear that counts.

It's got snap-in detachable speakers. The same sealed air suspension speakers you find in every Sylvania stereo. Portable or console. And no matter what the price. The system that delivers the full range of sound, clean and clear.

And it's got a Garrard automatic turntable. With a finely-balanced tone arm and diamond stylus.

Precise, but rugged. So wherever you take it, you're not taking a risk.

And a fully-transistorized stereo amplifier. That gives you all the power you need. Without being heavy-handed about it.

But it's neat (only about 15½" x 20½" x 11"). And light (32 lbs.). And priced lower than you'd expect for the components it carries.

So, if you drop in and listen to it, you may get the urge to walk out with it. Don't worry. You can take it. Easy.

But you may have a problem hiding it.

It's not just the size that makes it tough. After all, you have more than 50 models to choose from. Table-top to big consoles.

It's the picture you get with a Sylvania that does it. Once you get it in the house, you'll want to watch it.

It's got the Sylvania Colorbright 85° picture tube.

And the new Sylvania color-purifying circuitry. And all the other Sylvania-engineered parts and components that make Sylvania's image better than ever.

Lots of people have been dreaming of more than a black-and-white Christmas this year. So give in. And when your Sylvania color set arrives, use it.

Now's Time To Plan Year's-End Strategy To Save Tax Dollars

With today's trend toward bigger farms and higher costs, tax management deserves top priority in your farm business, especially as tax-filing time approaches.

Farmers who want to cash in on tax savings should act now, advise F. M. Sims, University of Illinois Extension farm management specialist, and John Henderson, U. of I. Extension agricultural law specialist.

Most tax savings are made before you close your 1967 farm record book. After Dec. 31, you can do little except pay the taxes you owe.

To avoid paying unnecessary taxes, plan your end-of-the-year strategy now.

Begin by adding all 1967 farm income and expenses. Then figure depreciation, investment credit, personal exemptions and deductions.

If your taxable income is considerably more or less than last year's, look for ways to level it.

Because of graduated income tax rates, personal deductions and allowances, the Extension specialists explain that over the years a tax burden will be lightest if income is leveled as much as possible from year to year.

What Can Be Done

If the estimate of your 1967 income tax is higher than last year's, or the last few years', there are several possible steps you can take to pay less tax and avoid situations that could mean more tax. Sims and Henderson list these suggestions:

1. Buy and take delivery on some of the farm supplies you will need in 1968, such as seed, chemicals, baler twine, paint, oil and grease.
2. If you cannot take delivery of the supplies then purchase and pay for them by Dec. 31, 1967, with delivery in 1968. Be sure, however, there is a binding, written contract signed by you and the seller. The contract should specify quantity, quality or grade, definite price or criteria for establishing the price at the time of delivery and a time of delivery.

Bloomfield Gilt Moves To Japan

ASHLAND—A Japanese government research farm located near Tokyo, Japan, is now the new home for a purebred Bloomfield gilt from the A. R. Bloomfield & Son Hampshire herd of this city.

The Bloomfield gilt was among 24 head of Hampshires selected from herds in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and Missouri by Schoichiro Wajima, a veterinarian employed by the Japanese government.

The hogs were shipped from San Francisco via a Japanese freighter.

Wajima said these Hampshire gilts will be used for production testing work in Japan to obtain rate of gain, feed efficiency, and carcass cut-out figures. After extensive research, the most outstanding offspring will be used in commercial swine operations throughout Japan to add more muscle to the native breedings and improve the feed efficiency and growing ability.

Howard Boucher, executive secretary of Hampshire Swine Registry of Peoria, recently returned from a tour of Japanese hog farms where he saw Hampshire hogs and their offspring that were exported from the United States in recent years. Mr. Boucher said the performance of the "banded hogs" in improving carcass merit is attracting unusual interest within the Japanese industry.

Pork Producers Elect Officers

Howard Schone of Chapin was elected president of the Morgan County Pork Producers association at the annual meeting held Thursday evening at Hamilton's restaurant. He succeeds Carman Potter, route 2.

Joe Lawless, Jr., of Woodson was elected vice president and Alan Heaton of Murrayville was reelected as secretary-treasurer.

Virgil Smith, route 4, was elected county delegate to the Illinois Pork Producers association and Jim Baise, also of route 4, was named alternate.

Glenn Schone was elected reporter and public relations director. His immediate task is to acquaint pork producers with the plan to create a fund for the promotion of pork, with a voluntary check-off of five cents for each butcher hog marketed.

Illinois Farm OUTLOOK

DEVALUATION SETS OFF PRICE DISTURBANCES

The devaluation of the British pound set off a succession of price disturbances that will continue for many months, perhaps years. Devaluation of the British money (and several other national currencies) was price-depressing. The prospect of possible devaluation of the U.S. dollar was price-lifting. Official measures to prevent devaluation will be price-depressing.

The British buyers now have to put up more money (pounds) to pay for a cargo of corn or other U.S. products. So they aren't likely to be buying as much as before. At the same time, we don't have to pay as many dollars for British automobiles and other products. These changes will make for lower prices in the United States.

When fears of the devaluations, the effect was price-lifting. Trimming the gold content of the dollar would allow foreign buyers to get more dollars—and consequently more of our soybeans and other products—for their money. Devaluation of the dollar would require us to put up more dollars to pay for German Volkswagens, Australian beef, Venezuelan oil, Canadian iron ore—and all the other things our people need and want from other countries.

Wants Not Enough
The administration has promised not to devalue the dollar. It has promised to keep on selling (and buying) gold for $35 an ounce. But declarations and promises alone will not preserve our gold supply, nor maintain the value of our money.

During the past 25 years, we—our government, business firms, and individuals—have spent many billions of dollars in foreign countries. We bought raw materials for our factories; manufactured products for our people; supplies for our military bases; and transportation, lodging, and meals for our travelers.

Most of those dollars have been returned to the United States. They were used to pay for the farm and industrial products we have sold to foreign countries. Some of the dollars have been used to purchase gold from our vaults, at $35 an ounce. But several billion dollars, in the form of bank accounts and paper currency, are still held by people in other countries. They are held by individuals, business firms, banks, and by foreign governments.

Have Enough Gold?
We promised to deliver 1/35 of an ounce of gold for each dollar presented for redemption. We keep our promise by selling gold for $35 an ounce. But if too many dollars are presented for redemption, we would not have enough gold to make good on our promises.

What we need to do is make our dollars so valuable in trade that foreign holders of dollars will want our products instead of our gold. We can do that by offering our products, especially our manufactured items, at more attractive prices. In short, we need to stop, or at least to slow, our inflation. We need to check the inflationary spiral of big wage increases and excessive borrowing and spending by individuals, corporations, and our Federal Government. Thus, measures to protect the dollar, if any, will be price-depressing.

To Review Small Farm Problems

A reminder of the discussion meeting to be held in Mt. Sterling on December 19 was issued Friday by Norman T. Torrens, chairman of the USDA's Morgan County Technical Action Panel.

Small farmers and others interested in the problems of small farmers are invited to come and give their ideas for improving farm programs.

The meeting will start at 10 a.m. in the auditorium of the Brown county high school at the east edge of Mt. Sterling.

Ideas gained at the meeting will be forwarded to Secretary of Agriculture Freeman for use in strengthening government assistance to small farmers. This is one of a series of 100 such meetings being held throughout the country.

"We will be there to listen," Torrens said. "Attendance and active participation by small farmers is certain to bring out some good ideas."

ON WAY TO GERMANY

RUSHVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. George Stoneking of Rushville received a telephone call Thursday night from their son, Sgt. Donnie Stoneking, who is stationed at Fort Carson, Colo., stating he will be leaving for Germany in February, 1968. His wife and three children will accompany him there.

Farm Supplies Co-Op Chief Takes A Look At Probable Future

The attitude of cooperative members toward change and growth, services, profits, credit and loyalty has important growth effects on a cooperative.

Melvin Sims, president of FS Services, Inc., told those attending the University of Illinois Cooperative Clinic held in Urbana that most people possess a natural resistance to change.

While change means risk and uncertainty, it also means growth and opportunity, he said.

Sims, Adams county farmer, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Morgan County Farm Bureau at MacMurray College Thursday afternoon.

"Farmers ought to be more accustomed to growth and change than most segments of our society," Sims said. "Growth plays a big part in the farmer's life. It should be natural for farmers to want and expect growth and change to occur in their cooperatives."

But Sims cautioned that while cooperative leaders may be anxious for growth and change, a "considerable percentage" of cooperative members oppose change.

A positive force promoting cooperative growth and expansion, however, is the farmer's desire for services.

The modern farmer manages a sizable and complex business, Sims said. The farmer needs and wants technical and related services to help him increase his profits. He wants services to make his work easier and quicker.

"The most serious deterrent to the continuation of cooperative growth," Sims said, "is probably the members' attitude toward profit."

No Patronage Refunds
Many farm cooperative members suggest that their cooperative discontinue patronage refunds and sell at the lowest possible price. And in marketing activities, farmers often encourage their cooperatives to pay the highest possible price at the time of sale.

But profit is essential in any organization that hopes to attract new capital, to attract and hold aggressive and imaginative employees, to assume risk and to conduct research, Sims said.

"Cooperatives ought to be at least as concerned about generating profits as any other business. The profits which result should be turned over to the members except for those that need to be retained in the business for growth and expansion."

"Cooperatives should not lead the price down, nor lead the price up in the case of marketing activity," Sims said.

Credit A Problem
Supplier credit may be a logical service for cooperatives to provide if farmers appreciate its convenience, and if they are willing to pay for the service.

But if the cooperative member wants supplier credit so he can get more credit than his credit institution will provide, a serious situation could result for both the farmer and his cooperative.

Sims says supply cooperatives should encourage farmers to get financial assistance available from cooperative farm credit system.

Loyalty Bygone Phase
Discussing loyalty to cooperatives, Sims pointed out that when the cooperative idea was a new venture and a bold step to improve the farmer's economic position, cooperatives generated a great amount of loyalty in their members.

But today, he said, most of the loyalty in a cooperative is centered in the leadership. "Except for a small percentage, rank and file members expect their cooperative to be competitive in every respect. And a sizable number expect the cooperative to provide an even better deal than that offered by competition."

Most of this year's entrants decided it wasn't worth while to haul the corn to the elevator to have it weighed and tested for moisture.

Bloomfield will be a guest at the state awards banquet to be held in Urbana Jan. 20.

Corn — Bob Armstrong, North Side Ag club; Tom Burrus, Victory Ag; Gordon White, Murrayville Kings & Queens; Eld Ward and Steve Wheeler, both of North Side.

Soybeans — Bob Armstrong, Victory; Bob Armstrong, North Side.

There was only one wheat entry, and only one oats entry. Neither was good enough to qualify for an "A" show.

The judge of the show was Lyle Ragan of Jacksonville, area fieldman for Producer's Seeds.

Quite a bit of corn was harvested that season in January, 1942.

The yield in Morgan county that year was set at 57 bushels to the acre.

This year many fields are making 150 bushels to the acre, with a 200 bushel crop here and there.

It seems that about 30% of the corn crop is still in the field today. Some farmers got their pickers in the field Thursday afternoon and many of them were hustling down the rows Friday. In many cases the operator had to be mighty selective as to where he was going, forced to stick to higher ground and away from boggy spots.

The Chapin area seems to be away behind this year, with a guessed-at 45% of the corn crop still on the stalk — either standing up or flat on the ground. Combines mired down so badly in that area that two tractors couldn't pull them out and a crawler had to be brought in to rescue the machine.

Due to the recent foul weather the elevators are now cleaned out pretty well. And so are the river terminals. Farmers, if they can harvest the crop, at least have a place to put it — a far different situation than three weeks ago when conditions permitted harvest but the elevators were jammed to the eaves.

A few good days this week will put the corn harvest over the hump, say men who have shucked corn, and then picked it, and are now combining it.

Report Increase In Grain Storage Over Last Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported Friday that growers had stored 191 million bushels of 1967 crop wheat under price support loans through November.

This quantity compared with 103 million bushels from the 1966 crop stored in the like period last year.

The department reported also that growers had placed 106 million bushels of this year's soybeans under loans through November compared with 91 million bushels in the like period last year.

This year's corn stored under loans through November totaled 52 million bushels compared with 45 million a year earlier.

Farm Bureau To Mark 50th Birthday, Honor Its Charter Members

The Morgan County Farm Bureau will celebrate its semi-centennial Thursday at the annual meeting to be held at MacMurray College.

A feature of the day's program will be the recognition of charter members—farmers who helped create the organization in December, 1917.

At that time 274 farmers and their families—most of the latter with agricultural interests—formed the original organization.

The surviving men of that group, so far as the present Farm Bureau leadership can determine, are:

Clifton Dietrick, Jacksonville.
Daniel Dietrick, Concord.
D. P. Joy, Chapin.
Roy McKinney, rural route 1.
Lester Reed, Jacksonville.
Clyde Williams, Bluffs.
Rudy York, rural route 1.

"If there are other charter members still with us we'd like to know about them and have them for our special guests Thursday," says John Chambers, organization director.

Annual Meeting Of Cass Farm Bureau Held

VIRGINIA — Approximately 300 people attended the 49th annual meeting of the Cass County Farm Bureau and Cass County Service company Dec. 9 at the Virginia high school.

Daryle Tegeder, Farm Bureau president, called the meeting to order. The invocation was given by Rev. John MacFarlane, Presbyterian church, Virginia.

Business of the Farm Bureau session included various reports, presentation of awards and election of new officers and directors.

Farm Bureau officers elected for the coming year are Ben Kruse, vice president; Donald Bierhaus, secretary-treasurer. The members in attendance passed a motion "That the Cass County Farm Bureau board of directors be empowered to elect the president for the coming year from the newly elected Board of Directors. The board also would be empowered to appoint a new director to fill the vacancy created."

Township directors for the coming year are Robert Strubbe, Arenzville; Robert Savage, Ashland; Richard Hess, Beards Springs; Eugene Eilers, Hagener; Joe Moore, Chander; Billy Blair, Newmansville; John R. Cline, Panther Creek; Virgil Pettit, Philadelphia; Lewis Webster, Jr., Sangamon Valley; Charles Crum, Virginia.

Maurice Plattner, president of the Cass County Service company, called its meeting to order. Directors elected for the coming year are Maurice Plattner, Oliver Meyer, Harry Winkelmann, Floyd Schone, Robert Hess, Melvin Rhine, Robert Wildt. Reports were made by the officers and Bennie Barnett, Manager.

Ladies of the Homemakers Extension association served a ham dinner at noon.

The Robinettes, a one family band from Divernon, entertained the audience during the afternoon.

W. Rex Fouts, regional sales manager of FS Services, Inc., was the guest speaker.

Attendance prizes which included an AM-FM radio and eight $5 meal gift certificates were given away. Door prizes were distributed after the meeting.

in school are being invited to enroll. Those enrolling will receive a project manual, a membership card and pin.

Additional information and instructions for enrolling may be obtained at the Cooperative Extension office, or at the county fourth, fifth and sixth grades, grade schools.

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

The question of where to buy has become quite important.

Fertilizer, for instance, has become available in adequate supply almost all the time. To cut price you pay:

- buy in off season. Maybe even store it yourself till spring.
- buy in bulk.
- high analysis material is almost always cheaper per unit of plant food.

Whatever you buy get the best buy, and the lowest price may not be the best buy. In many cases services offered, use of dealer's equipment, etc., are worth money to you and not really best. It's high price combined with poor service that's really costly.

If you buy commodities in volume expect and insist on volume discounts. If you don't pay cash figure out the rate of interest you will pay. It may be disguised as higher price or a service charge but it is still an expense that can be avoided. It's usually more economical to borrow from a reputable lending institution and pay cash. If you pay cash ask for a cash discount.

It's your money and you have to save for each dollar spent.

Sometimes the best is held a conscience can get is cold feet.

Now you should...

- ...Make the last shopping trip.
- ...Smile.
- ...Clean the oven.
- ...Be happy in your work.
- ...Check the hogs for lice.
- ...Wear overshoes.
- ...Wear the car and change the oil.
- ...Replace spark plugs and points that you have used more than 10,000 miles.
- ...Water the Christmas tree.

The weather has been your can't tell how to dress. About the time you think winter is here it warms a little and starts raining. But we know that Illinois weather will always change. It's never the same for any great length of time.

Why can't the problems of life hit us when we are 18 and know everything?

TV Action Club New 4-H Program

A new 4-H activity in Morgan County—the TV Action club—will be starting Jan. 6. Extension Adviser George Trull announces.

The TV Action Club features a weekly series of ten 30 minute programs designed to teach basic emergency preparedness. The series will be seen on Channel 10, WGEW-TV, beginning Saturday, Jan. 6 at 12:30 p.m.

Each program will be a simulated 4-H meeting in which the boys and girls learn about emergencies such as tornadoes, floods, fires, nuclear accidents, problems of cold weather and problems of hot weather.

Boys and girls who are in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, grade schools.

Reports And Elections

This year's program in Annie Merner chapel will begin at 9:30 a.m. with the annual meeting of the Service Co., with Byron Stewart, president, presiding. Reports of officers and seven directors elected to serve one year terms.

The annual meeting of the Farm Bureau will begin about 10:30, with Cary Strang, president, presiding. A review of the year's activities will be made by the officers and employees. Eighteen directors and as many township chairmen will be chosen to serve one year terms.

The nominating committee is headed by William Rees, Jr. He is being assisted by Darryl Sayre, Albert Wilson, Charles Harris, James Scott, Murriel Wheeler, Robert Kircher Edwin Ommen and J. Ivan Heaton.

Attendance Gifts
Each member who attends the morning session will receive a gift — a plastic portfolio — and one of those present will receive a deluxe table model transistorized radio set.

Some 500-600 persons are expected to attend the luncheon in McClelland dining hall. Harlan Williamson will lead group singing and the speaker of the afternoon will be Melvin E. Sims of Liberty, Adams county, president of FS Services, Inc.

A number of Meat for Christmas certificates will be given as door prizes at the close of the meeting.

ACROSS THE FIELDS AND FURROWS

Excerpts from the Foreword to the 1967 yearbook of A.G. culture, "Outdoors U.S.A." by Orville Fremont, Secretary of U.S.D.A.

A mountaintop symbolizes man's goals, aspirations and yearnings for a "better life."

A mountaintop symbolizes man's spirit of 1967 yearbook and the spirit of its authors; and the spirit of the department which I head.

A mountaintop symbolizes conservation.

From the mountaintop, we have a sweeping view of man's total environment—an environment we share with all living things.

From the valleys below, where our food and clothing are produced, we lift our eyes across tilled fields and green pastures and the timbered slopes that provide shelter for the wild creatures and wood for the human creatures to the snow capped mountains that help to water the valleys in the heat of summer.

About half of the U.S.D.A. staff works in some phase of conservation to preserve the scenic splendor of our mountaintops and our other natural resources, while getting the most use from them.

FROM THE CORN CRIB
The portly orator from Kaycee, Mayor H. Roe Bartle, told the Eagles convention in Miami Beach about a time he was invited to speak at the Holy Name Society breakfast. "Remember, Mr. Mayor, no politics in your talk," said the parish priest. "Well, I just have two speeches," said Roe. "One is on politics and the other one is entitled, 'The Joy of Being a Presbyterian.'" Said the Father. "My boy, we'll take the one on politics."

Across the Fields and Furrows is brought to you daily at 12:25 P.M. on WLDS 1180 on your dial by the people at Elliott State Bank.

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 17—Born today, you have a tremendous faculty for making quick and accurate decisions. Your ability to lead others in such a way that they feel no resentment of your authority is such that you would make an outstanding executive. You have a boldness in action that makes everything you do seem not only important but absolutely necessary, and your determination to gain success in whatever field you enter rubs off on others, making them willing to help you in your efforts.

You have a great deal of nervous energy, which may well explain your tendency to work more, perhaps, than you should. You must learn to take time off for periodic rest and relaxation; otherwise, you may find yourself taking an enforced vacation one day and losing much that you have worked so hard to gain. Let others shoulder their share of the responsibilities.

One who wastes neither time nor money, you are at the same time extremely generous of what you have and will, therefore, seldom have an excess of either. There is little doubt that you will achieve success, perhaps even fame, in your work—but whether or not you will amass a fortune is quite another matter. To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, December 18
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Accept new responsibilities without dismay. This is a day when you can easily put yourself in line for advancement.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Make your decisions promptly. To delay now may mean to forfeit the whole project in the long run. Take notice.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Follow your instinct if you would find the best method of operation for today. An excellent day for progress.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 21)—The time you waste today can never be regained. Make every moment count for two and watch your successes mount.

ARIES (Mar. 22-Apr. 20)—Keep excess energy in reserve for later. Use up all your resources now and you will have little with which to fight future battles.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—Be sympathetic to another's difficulties at the same time that you are outspoken about them. You can make a friend.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Take care that you don't go to extremes today in your haste to take a step toward career success.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Don't allow matters of importance to be shelved as you go about another's business. See to first things first.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Your fondness for good living could stand in the way of success today. Make a favorable impression by being hard at work.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Execute the day's work in the most efficient way you know. This is no time for wasted motion; a day for accomplishment.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Let others know they can depend on you for both moral and material support. You can be the power behind the power if you choose.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Demonstrate all your wit and refinement today if you would be considered by higher-ups to be a prime candidate for advancement.

The Mature Parent

When Girl Turns Honesty Into Self-Disparagement

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Our daughter, 19, became engaged last New Year's Eve. About three months ago her this jilting well. But she has grown very listless and spends all her evenings alone in her room after work. Her friends no longer ask her out as she turns down all invitations. And this depression of hers is worrying us.

ANSWER: It should disgust you. It sure would disgust me. If this young female idiot were mine, I'd walk into her room and yell:

"Shame on you for sitting there hating yourself because you could attract an honest boy! How many males do you think exist in this world who entrust us with the truth of their feelings? Not many!"

"If they're uncertain about wanting to marry us, they either lie about it or sneak away. But you found yourself one who told you the truth! You got a man who so trusted you that he told you the truth! Instead of sitting here brooding over how badly he treated you, you'd better start trusting him back. Or you really WILL lose him—and deserve to, you young dope!"

The chance would be excellent that my scorn of her view of herself as a poor, jilted thing would change that view to one of justified and increased respect for herself.

It is not to all women that men confide uncertainty about marrying them or, for that matter, uncertainty about anything else. They are hamstrung by the notion that manliness requires them to be instant deciders who are sure about everything. And so most are scared to tell us that they don't know what to do about everything.

Then along comes one strong enough to confide an honest uncertainty to us and your daughter twists that manly confidence into cause for self-disparagement.

I'm not the person to coddle such nonsense but apparently this "depression" isn't nonsense to you. You think your daughter was badly used, too. If her "depression" continues, you'd better get a psychiatrist to pull her out of this binge of self-pity.

Two Accidents Cause Damage

City police investigated two accidents Friday evening within 30 minutes that caused minor damage to four vehicles and the drivers escaped without injury.

The first accident happened shortly before 7 p.m. on South Main. A car driven by Clifford M. Upchurch of 975 Goltra was northbound when he was struck from the rear by a second auto driven by James R. Miller of Route 3, also northbound. Upchurch told police he pulled from a driveway and started north but had to slow for traffic suddenly. Miller was unable to stop in time to avoid the accident.

An accident at the shopping center at 7:26 p.m. caused damage to cars driven by Patrick E. Armstrong of 815 Hardin who was headed south, and Howard E. Roach of 1493 Passavant Drive who was headed west, making a left turn. Both cars left under their own power. Roach said a parked car blocked his vision.

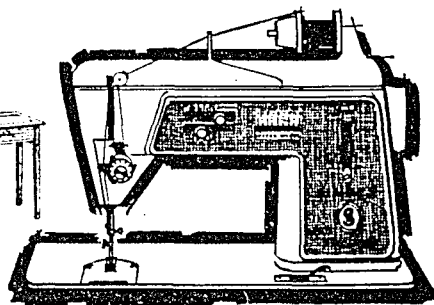

The Isle of Man has an area of 220 square miles.

Any reason why Mom should be left in the kitchen doing the dishes?

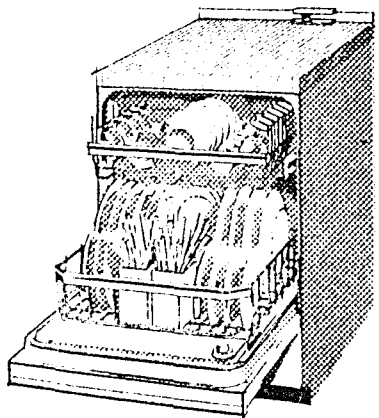

You and the rest of the family get to relax—but where's Mom? If old-fashioned dishwashing still has a wall between you and mother's companionship after mealtime, it's time for an automatic dishwasher.

A dishwasher automatically presents her with an extra hour of leisure each day. Her dishes come out sparkling and sanitized. And she comes out looking more relaxed!

An automatic dishwasher takes but 5¢ a day to operate. And that includes hot water, electricity and detergent. Pretty small price to pay to have dishes out of sight, an uncluttered kitchen counter and sink, more attractive looking hands and all the other advantages that come with an automatic dishwasher.

Let your appliance dealer show you why...

Songs, Lectures Highlight Peppy Partners Meeting

Demonstrations, entertainment and informational talks highlighted the Dec. 9 meeting of the 4-H Peppy Partners at South Jacksonville's Village Hall.

Gale Hewitt sang "Swanee River" after the meeting was called to order by Bev Hewitt. Ann Foote led the Pledge of Allegiance and Terri Jones led the 4-H Pledge.

Nancy Patterson discussed a Federation Report. Marilyn Spencer and Wina Hewitt gave safety talks. Janet Quigg spoke on health and Gale Hewitt presented a narrative on how to care for a knitted garment.

An illustrated talk on candles was given by Terri Jones. Bev Hewitt demonstrated Christmas arrangements; and Joan Tholen demonstrated a meat dish.

Debby Cole, Diane Cole, Candy Crawford, Patty Crawford, Marilyn Spencer and Joan Tholen did a special number on "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

The group decided to have a Christmas party. Hostesses for the Saturday evening meeting were Wina Hewitt and Donna Mills. The next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 13, 1968.

GET RECORDS NOW AND A HEAD START ON TAX REPORTS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Now is the time to get your financial house in order and get a head start on the income tax filing season which begins January 1.

Jay G. Philpott, District Director of Internal Revenue for Central and Southern Illinois, emphasized that cancelled checks, receipts, record of contributions and other financial records should be gathered now to help you prepare your 1967 Federal income tax returns.

Complete records help to insure that taxpayers do not overpay their taxes and also make the job of preparing the tax return easier.

Mr. Philpott said that a copy of your 1966 return is one of the best guides for preparing your 1967 return. He also pointed out that through 1968, you should accumulate records and receipts to ease your tax filing job in the following year.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, Dec. 17, the 351st day of 1967. There are 14 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1903, Orville and Wilbur Wright made the first successful powered airplane flights in history, soaring over sand dunes near Kitty Hawk, N.C.

On this date: In 1807, the American poet, John Greenleaf Whittier, was born.

In 1830, the South American patriot and liberator, Simon Bolivar, died.

In 1914, the British proclaimed a protectorate over Egypt.

In 1919, a U.S. arsenal at Pocatung, N.J., blew up, causing $1 million damage.

In 1939, during World War II, German crewmen of the pocket battleship Graf Spee scuttled the ship off Uruguay rather than let it fall into the hands of the British.

In 1944, the Germans opened an offensive on the Western Front. It developed into the Battle of the Bulge.

Ten years ago: The United States successfully fired an Atlas ballistic missile for the first time.

Five years ago: President John F. Kennedy said the recent Cuban confrontation had made any understanding between the United States and Soviet Union less likely in the foreseeable future.

One year ago: Michigan's Gov. George Romney said he would create an organization to help him decide whether to seek the Republican presidential nomination.

31 ATTEND ARENZVILLE AID CHRISTMAS PARTY

ARENZVILLE — The Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid held its Christmas party on the regular December meeting date Thursday. Thirty-one members and ten guests attended the potluck dinner at noon. Table and room decorations were in keeping with the Christmas season.

A faith-lifting Christmas devotional program, "Come, Worship the King," was presented by several members of the group, together with the following school children: Leanne Welch, Vickie Lovekamp, Susan Beard, Jim Phelps, Greg Roegge, and Gerry Beard. Mrs. John Phelps was narrator for the program, and Mrs. William Maschmeier was pianist.

At the conclusion of the program, the Aid presented a cash gift to Pastor and Mrs. Welch.

A cash gift was sent to the Lutheran Child's Welfare Agency at Addison.

A Christmas gift exchange was held, and the Birthday Song was sung in honor of the December birthdays of several members.

Pastor Welch closed the meeting with prayer.

In charge of the arrangements for the day's program were Mrs. John Phelps, chairman; Mrs. Marvin Ommen, Mrs. Dean Kleinschmidt, Mrs. Josephine Janssen, Mrs. Bertha Kleinschmidt, and Mrs. Ed Kunze.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kruse, Karen and Connie, were in Quincy recently where they attended Open House at Blessing Hospital.

Diamond; Robert Lawrence Dale and Sandra Rose Williams, both of Hannibal, Mo.; Robert Bruce Woods of Taylorville and Ellen Kay Mies of Route 1, Loomi.

PROGRAM DEC. 20 AT PITTSFIELD CHURCH

PITTSFIELD — The Congregational church Youth Choir will present its fifth annual musical at the church at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 20.

The Gulf Stream, because of its distinctive color and wave pattern, is clearly recognizable from an airplane.

WORLD PROBLEMS seem to weigh heavily on these springer spaniel pups who struck a judicial pose while sitting for their portrait in England.

Most important present a child could get!

She doesn't know a lot about money, but a wonderful way for her to learn is to give her the present with a future—her own savings account with us. She'll learn thrift, the value of independence, and the importance of keeping a bright eye on the future. These are precious gifts to bestow on a child. Think about it, won't you? Then do your gift shopping for your children with us.

Fieldon Girl Wins 'Voice Of Democracy' Title

JERSEYVILLE—Miss Bobbie Hutchens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mayo Hutchens of Rural Fieldon, is the local winner of the Voice of Democracy Contest sponsored annually by Veterans of Foreign Wars post and auxiliaries throughout the country.

She is a sophomore at Jersey Community High School and won over a total of 24 contestants. Her taped speech will be entered in district competition later this month.

Participation in the Voice of Democracy contest here this year was a project of the speech class taught by Mrs. Paul Fleming.

Second place winner was Glenn Wesley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley of Jerseyville, whose brother, Robert, was the first place winner on the local level for two consecutive years.

Third place went to Carol Lemkemeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Lemkemeier of Graton, and honorable mention was given to Cathy Noble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Noble of Dow.

Joseph Woolsey, of the VFW, in announcing the local level winners this year, reported that the topic assigned was "Freedom's Challenge." Each contestant prepared a three to five minute speech which was placed on tape to be replayed for judging.

The panel of judges included Mrs. C. C. Schmidt, former English teacher at Jersey Community High School; Rev. M. Edwards Breed, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church and Rev. A.A. Ledebuhr, pastor of Hope Lutheran church of Jerseyville.

The winner will receive a $25 saving bond and cash awards of $15 and $10 will be made to second and third place winners.

Pins will be presented to all of the contestants. The presentation will take place in May after contests on the various levels have been completed.

The district winner qualifies for state competition where the top award is a $500 scholarship. The five winners of the national events will receive scholarships ranging from one to five thousand dollars.

VETERANS SHOP WITH HELP FROM LEGION AUXILIARIES

JERSEYVILLE — The 20th District Director of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Mary Miller of Jerseyville with other district officers, set up a gift shop Tuesday at Jacksonville State Hospital. Each veteran was assisted by auxiliary members in choosing gifts for every member of his family. These were taken to another room where they were gift-wrapped and packaged for mailing. As the Auxiliary members left they presented each veteran with a gift of candy.

The project is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary Department of Illinois through the Seven Point Program.

TO PRESENT PAGEANT CHANDLERVILLE — The Chandlerville Baptist church congregation will present its annual Christmas pageant at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. The program is entitled "Characters of Christmas Speak."

MURRAYVILLE MYF PREPARES NATIVITY SCENE

A live portrayal of the nativity scene is being planned by members of the Murrayville M.Y.F. and will be enacted on the Methodist church lawn Dec. 21 through 24.

The characters will be portrayed by M.Y.F. members, animals for the manger will be provided by neighboring farms. The scene will be highlighted with Christmas music, taped and amplified by loud speakers. The group is sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Alan Heaton, counselors and Reverend Wayne Goodwin, pastor of the church.

MISSION SOCIETY HONORS PRESIDENT

RUSHVILLE — The Women's Missionary Society of the Free Methodist church of Rushville held its regular monthly meeting at the parsonage Thursday evening, Dec. 14, with 17 members in attendance. Mrs. Alta Cunningham, president, presided. Mrs. Bethel Crum led devotions by reading and prayer was given by Mrs. Millie Crum. Mrs. Hazel Lang and Mrs. Lena Elliott.

Following the meeting a surprise birthday party was held for the president, Mrs. Alta Cunningham. Each member presented her with a birthday cake and handkerchief. Refreshments of cookies, ice cream, punch and coffee were served.

The next meeting will be Thursday, January 25, at the church.

SCOUTS ADVANCE IN RANK Four members of Boy Scout Troop 107 were advanced after consideration by a board of review, meeting, Dec. 13 at Grace Methodist church.

The scouts and their new ranks are: John Buchanan, eagle; Steve Wilson, star; Dave Veness and Howie Scott, second class.

CHANDLERVILLE SOLDIER HOME FOR CHRISTMAS CHANDLERVILLE — Warrant Officer Merwin R. Beard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Beard arrived home recently to spend the holidays with his family.

W. O. Beard, a veteran of service in Vietnam, has been a patient at the U.S. Army Hospital in Denver, Colo. for several weeks and will return to the hospital at the conclusion of his furlough on Jan. 3.

Herbert Gubser New President Of Jersey CC

JERSEYVILLE — Herbert W. Gubser has accepted the presidency of the Jerseyville Chamber of Commerce for the coming year. He will replace Gene Prosser of Jerseyville, whose letter of resignation as incoming president was read at a meeting of the directorate of the Chamber recently in the Blue Room of the local Elks Lodge.

The outgoing president, Robert Skibbe, who completes his duties this month, submitted the names of Benton Mundy and Harry Krause. Jerseyville businessmen, as prospective directors to fill vacancies created by the resignation of Lloyd Dehner Sr. and Dr. Emil Gast. Krause had served a six month appointment to the board. The two appointments were confirmed by the board of directors.

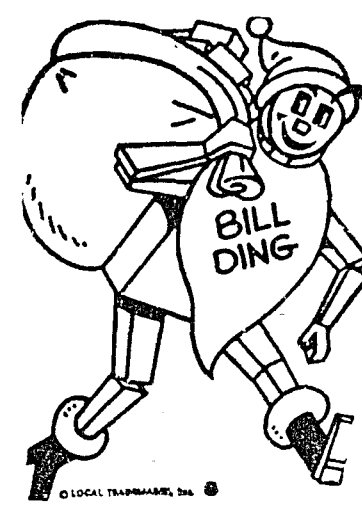

New officers will assume active duty on the first of January. The annual full membership dinner of the Chamber has been scheduled for January 23. Considerable discussion was held Tuesday regarding the annual dinner and the matter was referred to the executive committee.

The board voted to adopt a resolution sent out by the Canton Association of Commerce and Industry regarding proposed highway construction which would adequately serve the heavy growth areas of Central Illinois.

During the next two weeks, local Chamber personnel will call on members to distribute a businessman's survey on employment, commercial and industrial development.

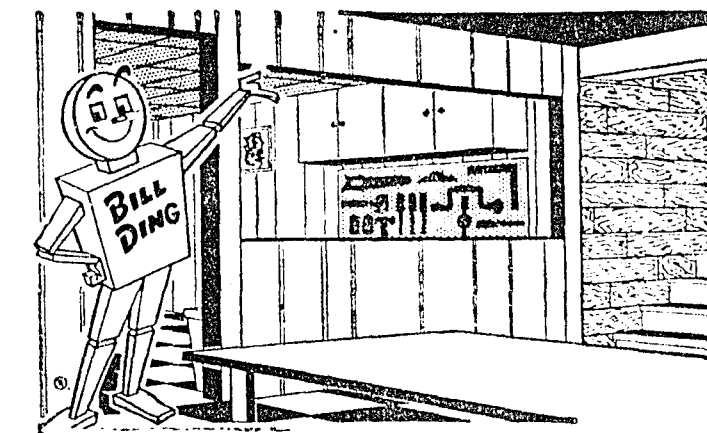

HOLIDAY CONCERT AT CHANDLERVILLE CHANDLERVILLE — The Chandlerville High School Band and Chorus will present a concert of Christmas music at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the high school auditorium.

Also featured will be the Beginners' Band which will join the regular band and chorus in presenting the traditional holiday program.

Prayer Poem

The Crowning Promise

By Mary Pence Claywell

Sometimes we are very weary... Sick, depressed, or maybe blue: So was Jesus... and He never Promised more to me and you: We must have our tribulations. But God knows when we've enough. And He Showers Down many Blessings. When the "going" gets too rough: But the old world is so busy: Bringing many ups and downs... It's so hard, to keep from falling. Or from feeling... we're let down: Still, we're strengthened by Thy Word, Lord. And will be... till time is past. And no memories, Lord, will haunt us. When You Lift us... up at last!

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Cardinal Giuseppe Caspar Mezzofanti (1774-1849) was probably the greatest linguist the world has ever known, says The World Almanac. He is said to have spoken 58 languages and to have been able to translate 114 languages and 72 dialects.

Let's Go Birding

Two Sailors

By Emma Mae Leonhard

November 27 was a cold but sunny day. The birds seemed hungrier than usual, at least more active. On a wheat field not far away from Lake Jacksonville over five hundred Crows joined this active group, and more continually flew in to increase the population.

These large black birds embroidered the green field in varying designs which constantly swelled and changed. Above the field Crows maneuvered like black rowboats against a clear blue sky. Others circled over a pine woods which stood near-by. The total scene consisted of a green field, a green woods, a blue sky, and hundreds of shifting black crows.

Mood Changes
Then something changed the mood of the scene. An exceedingly graceful bird, gray instead of black, with long rounded wings, white underparts, and a white rump-patch, sailed over the pine grove and glided low over the wheat field monopolized by the Crows. Immediately the Crows cawed in indignation, moved restlessly, and some circled out toward the edge of the field.

The stray bird, a male Marsh Hawk, seemingly undisturbed, soared above the wheat as if he were intentionally quartering the field. At first the Crows appeared puzzled and disgruntled. Then one lone Crow, evidently appointed by the Crow army, moved in closer to the unwelcome Marsh Hawk.

Full Dignity
The Marsh Hawk in full dignity veered, calmly glided across the field, and left it for a bean field further on, the lone Crow following its enemy. I could not help comparing the flight of the two birds: the gull-like Marsh Hawk steadily sailed on like a graceful sailboat, balancing on its long, rounded, black-tipped wings as it glided on irresistible yummies. Then too, I could write lots and lots, maybe even make it a book length, and see what happens with it. After all, we never really do know what the next day will bring!

Next, I wish that it would be Feb. 1969 because then for sure I would be a high school graduate. I'm still waiting... for both. And I would be free from the awful chains of studying. I'm really looking forward to this year. We're going to have special conventions, and well, I've never been to any convention at all, and I'm determined to get to one of these then. Also, I will probably decide on my line of work. I guess for a while, I would like to do some missionary work. Maybe, I'll try to get a job as a model or work in New York on some magazines, or maybe, I'll get married. Unfortunately, the time it took me to write this wasn't very long. In fact, it is still '67. Who said that time flies? Not me. I sure wish it did. Some just rest and visit my friends in Illinois and stay with Grandma. I haven't been to stay at her house for a long time. Oh, I plan on going on Christmas vacation, but I'd like to stay for at least two whole weeks at a time maybe even a month. Grandmother always makes

There's an old saying "time flies". Pardon me, but I must disagree with this saying. How about you?

Time does not fly. It has no wings. Time practically stands still.

I have been waiting and waiting for a long time to graduate from high school. I have also been waiting to get my first car. I'm still waiting... for both.

Everybody says, "Oh, it'll be here before you know it." Surprise. I know it and it isn't here.

It is still 1967. It has been for a very long time. It is still winter. I wish that it could at least be February of 1968. I can start the count down to mid-year graduation in 1969.

Then, I wish that it would be summer. I have been thinking of summer, and what I would like to do. I thought perhaps that I might want to get a job, but, I don't think that is really what I want. Since this may be my last vacation that will ever last for three months, maybe I ought to enjoy it.

I thought maybe, that I could me, I sure wish it did. Some just rest and visit my friends in Illinois and stay with Grandma.

I haven't been to stay at her house for a long time. Oh, I plan on going on Christmas vacation, but I'd like to stay for at least two whole weeks at a time maybe even a month. Grandmother always makes

Next, I wish that it would be Feb. 1969 because then for sure I would be a high school graduate. I'm still waiting... for both. And I would be free from the awful chains of studying.

I'm really looking forward to this year. We're going to have special conventions, and well, I've never been to any convention at all, and I'm determined to get to one of these then.

Also, I will probably decide on my line of work. I guess for a while, I would like to do some missionary work. Maybe, I'll try to get a job as a model or work in New York on some magazines, or maybe, I'll get married.

Aerospace News

Expressway With No Exits

Reviewed By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

In the October 15, 1967, Aerospace News column I mentioned that many airline pilots think that private plane traffic should be banned from commercial airports because of increasing congestion.

To this the Utility Airplane Council of the Aerospace Industry Association answers. "Any large terminal airport that has little or no facilities for general aviation is like an expressway with no exits or entrances. This comparison is used by many to document the importance of keeping all airports open to all commerce."

"Serving the community's air transportation needs is a team effort of both the airlines and general (non-airline and non-military) aviation. The facilities for general aviation on a major terminal are the entrances and exits of the express highways in the air which connect these metropolitan areas to the more than 10,000 airports used by general aviation."

"Aside from the direct, point-to-point service by both airlines and general aviation airplanes, the transfer of passengers from one to another also requires joint use of the facilities. An examination of the service points and frequency of flights by airlines reveals why any community which would block general aviation activity can be likened to barricading the entrances to an express highway."

Airlines serve about 535 airports in the 48 contiguous states compared to more than 10,000 served by general aviation, as shown in the picture above. The number served by general aviation, of course, also includes most of the airports served by airlines. Anyone who has visited Lambert-St. Louis airport can see that it has plenty of general aviation entrances and exits.

Approximately 18 percent of all scheduled departures by the airlines and 34 percent of the enplaned passengers occur at only five metropolitan areas. Chicago is one of these five. Seventy-one of the airports served by the airlines average less than two scheduled flights per day.

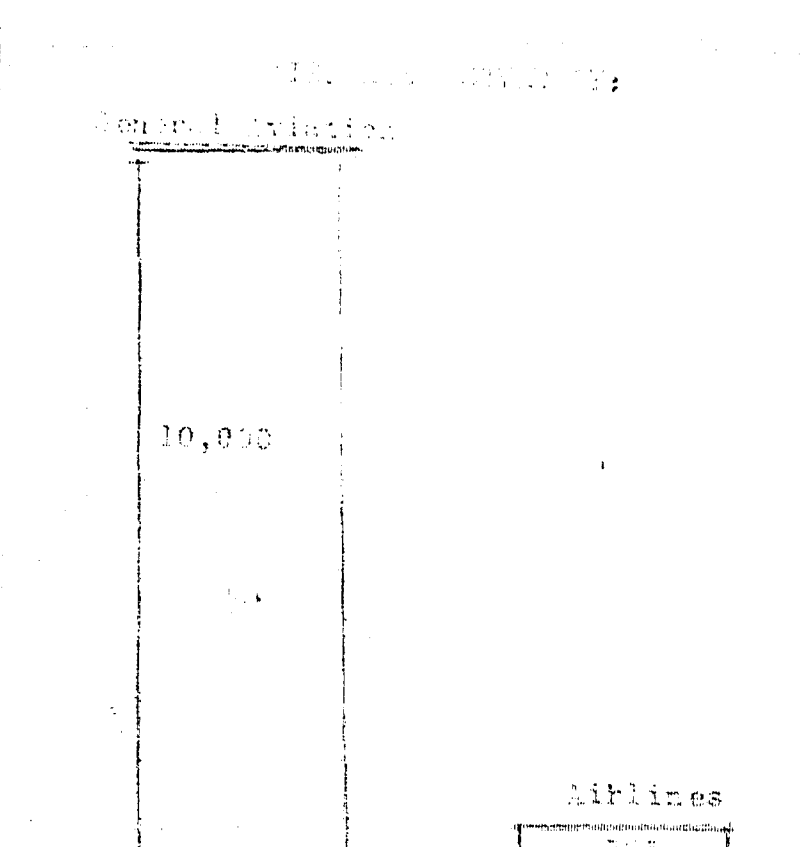

In California, for example, there are 36 airports where the air traveler can take an airline flight while 624 handle only general aviation. Ohio has twelve airports served by the airlines and 401 used by general aviation. Texas has 30 airports with airline service out of a total of 846. There are 172 airports in North Dakota, but only seven are served by airlines.

With general aviation being such a dominant part of the total air transportation system,

When the Marsh Hawk, without retaliation, glided leisurely and low over the meadow, the Crow turned, gave out a loud caw, flapped back to the Crow-filled field, and joined its own. Soon peace reigned again.

15-Year-Old Won't Tell Latest Research

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — As a senior at Parker High School, 16-year-old Bracie Watson isn't saying what research he's doing now.

But his teachers won't be surprised, whatever it is.

As a ninth grader, he grafted an hour-old chick to another. The chick with the new skin lived to be frying size.

As a 10th grader, he took the kidney of one dog and transplanted it into another. The dog suffered no ill effects—and even bore a litter of eight puppies a few months later.

As an 11th grader, Watson took several embryo rats from the bodies of their mothers and kept them alive for hours in a mechanical womb which he designed and built.

He says his interest in such things began when he joined a science club his first year at Parker.

His skin graft project took first prize in a local science fair. The fair was for Negroes only, and winners could not enter regional contests.

This discouraged Watson, but one of the judges was a professor at the University of Alabama Medical Center. He invited the student to use his lab at the center and Watson jumped at the chance.

In his first kidney transplant, the dog died. Then came the successful experiment.

In May, 1966, Watson read about the problems of unborn babies whose parents had different RH factors. He began speculating on the possibility of removing them from the mother's womb to safety.

He began work on a mechanical device that would solve the Story Of Christmas

By John Rankin

The ground was white with fresh snow and it was still snowing in great fluffy flakes as Ken hurried along the deserted street on his way home from school. There was a quietness in the air that seemed in keeping with the yuletide season and some of the how fit in with the highly decorated windows of homes scattered along the way.

The feeling of Christmas was felt everywhere. In the sound of church bells chiming their message of glad tidings from afar; and in the voices of a group of caroling youngsters down at the end of the block. Even the snow-shrouded shrubs growing along the street and the peaceful quiet of falling snow seemed to call attention to the festive occasion.

As he went on Ken stopped from time to time to splatter some object or another with a hastily-made snowball. A tree, or a billboard or even a shed that happened to be within range made a suitable target. Then with a boylike gaiety that comes with the Christmastide, he stood with his head tilted back and his mouth open while trying to catch a mouthful of snow. It was a lot of fun letting the great snowflakes fall full on his, but he lost his balance and toppled over backwards into a snow-filled ditch.

Ken scrambled to his feet laughing and went on. He didn't mind getting a little snow down his back even if he had lost a glove in the process. He had more important things to think about now anyway. At the moment his mind was on a certain mandolin on display in the window at Haller's music store in the shopping center. Suddenly he decided to drop by the store on his way home just for another look at it.

More than anything else Ken wanted that mandolin for Christmas. Even if he never learned to play a simple chord on the thing he'd have a lot of fun just fooling around with it. But his father took a dim view of the whole idea, and thought a new bicycle would make a more suitable gift.

The snow was still coming down at a lively clip as Ken reached the shopping center. Traffic around the square was slowed to a snail's pace, and busy shoppers set up a great hustle and bustle as they darted from one store to another with an armful of assorted packages.

One big man that seemed in a great hurry collided headon with a woman coming through a revolving door. He got a funny look on his face and started to say something but she put him at ease with a reassuring smile and moved into the crowd. Christmas music coming from a loudspeaker somewhere mingled with the steady jingle of a bell in the hand of a man in uniform on a busy corner; shoppers exchanged friendly greetings.

Optimistic Forecast On Economy Stems From Auto Contract

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Optimistic predictions about the course of the U.S. economy in 1968 came out this past week. But words of caution were heard, too.

The forecasts covered the general economy, automobile production, housing starts and manufacturers' sales.

The outlook was enhanced when General Motors Corp., the No. 1 automaker, and the United Auto Workers Union agreed on a new three-year contract that will raise wages and benefits of 380,000 workers 6 per cent.

The contract is almost identical with agreements the union reached earlier with Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. Ford was struck for two months and Chrysler lost some production because of local work stoppages.

General Motors workers at 127 plants in 70 cities will get about $1 an hour in wage and benefit increases over the current average of $4.70.

In some cases, analysts said, business improvement would be contingent on enactment of an income tax increase and a cut in government spending.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York said, "underlying cost and price pressures in the economy show no signs of diminishing."

"The need for fiscal restraint," the bank added, "is compelling, not only to contain price pressures domestically but also to protect the dollar in the international exchanges."

Albert T. Sommers, economist for the National Industrial Conference Board, commented: "Now that the long-heralded and endlessly forecast expansion (in the economy) has begun, it does not look very much like the forecasts. In fact, it is very unobscure."

Dr. Saul B. Klamman, economist for the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, predicted the nation's economy will grow at an 8 per cent rate next year, compared with an expected rate of 5 1/2 per cent this year.

But without federal fiscal action, he added, "we are fearful of first half (of the year) imbalances which could lead to a second half decline."

Standard & Poor's Corp., a leading investment advisory firm and financial publisher, said it expected in the first half of next year strong advances in industrial production, gross national product, manufactured goods prices, business volume and profit margins.

Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., forecast sales of passenger cars in 1968 would rise to 9.3 million, second only to the record 9.5 million sold in 1965.

"Car sales next year should be bolstered by rising employment and personal income, by the present high level of personal liquid assets and low level of personal debt," he said.

Michael Sumichrast, economist for the National Association of tion of Home Builders, said he looks for 1968 housing starts to total 1.4 million units, up 10 per cent from the expected total for 1967.

A Commerce Department survey indicated that manufacturers expect an increase of 3.5 per cent in sales in the first three months of next year, which would be the best performance in two years.

The Labor Department reported that the unemployment rate fell sharply to 3.9 per cent of the labor force in mid-November from a two-year high of 4.3 per cent in October.

Arthur M. Ross, commissioner of labor statistics, said the decline was due to an acceleration of economic activity from a "slow situation" in September and October. He added that this resulted in more jobs for women and teen-agers.

Randolph, left, endorsed the change for the State Police as a move that will save at least half of the handling costs associated with the State Police license plates.

Secretary Powell pointed out that the color of the numeral on the new plates is chocolate brown on a white reflectorized surface. The district and radio call numbers assigned to the individual trooper are used on the license plates on the trooper's car, Secretary Powell said. This will be of help to the State Police in their work as well as in their internal record department.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—News that General Motors had reached a contract agreement with the United Auto Workers came too late to rescue the stock market from a decline Friday but GM stock responded quickly from a fractional loss to a net gain of 3/4 at 83 3/4.

Other auto stocks continued losers and the market as a whole remained down.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended with a loss of 2.83 at 880.61.

Volume was 11.53 million shares compared with 12.31 million Thursday.

American South African investment was among the most active stocks and rose 3/8 to 57 1/2. Homestake, the largest U.S. gold producer, rose 5/4 to 69.

Of 1,506 issues traded, 730 declined and 509 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 53 and new lows 46.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 2 to 316.4 with industrials off 1.6, rails up 1.3 and utilities off .3.

Considerable profit taking took place among some of the outstanding computer issues and other growth stocks as well as some of the moderately priced special issues which have been making sizable percentage gains in recent sessions.

Among these was Brunswick, which fell 1/4 to 15 1/2 on 232,300 shares, making it the most active stock.

Also in this category was American Motors, which dropped 7/8 to 13 1/2 as third most active stock.

Diamond Shamrock preferred "d" (when issued)—a result of the merger of Diamond Alkali and Shamrock Oil—was second most active, up 1/4 at 19 1/2, chiefly because of blocks of 95,000 and 49,200 shares.

As selling hit the big growth stocks, IBM fell 10 3/4 to 637 1/4. Control Data 2 1/2 to 150 3/4. Xerox 4 1/4 to 295, Polaroid 3 1/4 to 243 1/4 and Burroughs 3 1/4 to 162 1/4.

Du Pont cushioned the fall of the averages by rising 3/4 to 148 1/2.

Rails advanced against the downturn of industrials. New York Central rose 2 1/2 and Pennsylvania Railroad 2.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dropped 44 to 95.03. The New York Stock Exchange index dropped 28 cents to 852.89.

Prices declined irregularly on the American Stock Exchange.

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybeans advanced more than 2 cents a bushel and wheat about 1 cent on the Chicago Board of Trade during the week, but other grain futures prices were irregular.

However, all the grains probably would have closed the week on the decline if it had not been for a flood of rumors at Friday's session concerning the world monetary situation and the involvement of the United States therein.

When trade closed Friday, wheat futures were 1/4 to 3/4 of a cent a bushel higher for the week, December 1.46 1/4-1/4; corn was 1/8 lower to 1/4 higher, December 1.15 1/2-1/2; oats were unchanged to 1/8 higher, December 75 cents; rye was 1/2 lower to 3/4 higher, December 1.15 1/4-1/4; and soybeans were 1/2 to 2 1/2 higher, January 2.67 1/2-1/2. Soybean oil was 5 to 11 points higher for the week, December 8.56-8.57; soybean meal was 50 to 85 points higher, December 73.10.

Harvesting of corn in sections of the Corn Belt was slowed down again because of intermittent rain. Some areas reported being 4 to 5 weeks behind schedule in the field work and prices tended to advance when this was made public. However, cooler weather at midweek permitted resumption of harvest work and corn prices eased.

Early in Friday's session, soybeans displayed some strength on a report that some 191 million bushels had been placed under government loan out of this year's record crop and since this would cut the amount of available soybeans in the free market prices advanced. Grain prices, however, were weak until rumors circulated around the exchange concerning the world monetary situation.

Some traders said they'd heard the United States might remove its gold cover, or guarantee, from the dollar; others said they'd heard Great Britain might have to devalue the pound sterling again because it was under pressure of international speculators; and still others claimed that the raids on gold in European markets might seriously affect the U.S. dollar.

With the circulation of the rumors, prices started to advance and shorts turned to covering. The end of the session disclosed advances in all commodities, soybeans advancing nearly 2 cents a bushel.

The explanation given for the active turn to buying of commodities in the face of the unconfirmed rumors was that historically when gold, the international backing for currencies, is under pressure speculators turn to commodities for price insurance. In financial circles, this is called hedging.

In late November, when Great Britain devalued the pound sterling and several other countries followed, there was a run of gold buying by speculators who believed the U.S. might devalue the dollar or raise the price of gold, pegged at around $35 an ounce.

A statement from President Johnson that the U.S. would hold the price of gold at $35 brought the gold run to a temporary halt. Of the week's gold buying, the United States had issued no word through Friday.

Profit Taking Stops Stock Market Rise; First In 6 Weeks

By ED MORSE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Profit taking overtook the stock market last week and it sustained its first loss in six weeks. Trading simmered down a bit.

The feuing in Wall Street as the week ended, however, was strengthened by news that General Motors had reached agreement on a labor contract with the United Auto Workers. This removed a major worry from the market.

Stock market bulls also could derive encouragement from late news of a sharp rise in industrial production for November.

So far as stock trading went in the week just ended, movements for the over-all stock list were narrow.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a loss of 6.64 at 880.61.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost .8 at 316.4. Volume for the week was 57,679,340 shares compared with 59.8 million the previous week. Of 1,632 issues traded last week, 797 declined and 713 advanced.

The market was off slightly on Monday and Tuesday, posted narrow gains Wednesday and Thursday and declined on Friday.

The list apparently had to correct itself and it did so amid the usual end-of-year cross-currents caused by tax-loss selling, switching and reinvestment.

Despite the devaluation of the British Pound and avowed determination to defend the dollar in foreign exchange, underlying concern remained.

The undercurrent of worry remained even while some commentators were predicting better business in 1968 and a comparatively robust stock market.

Quite a few of the lower-priced more speculative issues, as well as the more recognized growth stocks, received a good play during the week even as blue chips groped along somewhat inconclusively.

A. J. Industries rose 1 1/4 to 10 1/4. Hazeltine gained 6 at 19 1/2. High Voltage Engineering 3 1/2 at 28 1/2 and Detroit Steel 3 1/4 at 21.

The most active issues last week on the New York Stock Exchange included Brunswick, up 3/8 at 15 1/2 on 1,154,500 shares; American Telephone, up 1/4 at 49 1/2 and American Motors, up 3/4 at 137 1/2.

Bond prices improved slightly for the second consecutive week last week despite continued international monetary uncertainty.

Corporate bonds were unchanged to a little higher in prices.

763, and the electrical contract was awarded to the Central Electric Shop of Alton for a revised figure of $138,003. The contract for the kitchen equipment at the East Elementary School was awarded to the Decatur firm of Swain and Meyers for a bid of $6,159.83.

The total contracts awarded amount to $1,512,402.83, some $94,724 less than the original bids opened by the board at its meeting November 15. The revised figures plus $100,000 set aside for the new junior high school, site purchase cost at East Elementary, architects and legal fees, and demolition at the Grafton site come within one thousand dollars of money available.

The major changes in the general contract, which resulted in reported overall deductions of $59,268 from the original bid, dealt with the revision of a circular gravel drive on the south side of the high school created an estimated saving of and omission of a parking area $4,219 on the electrical contract.

of all covered walkways; modification of some glassed-in areas to masonry in the new structure at the high school; substitution of a sand fill instead of a rock fill under concrete floors; changing roof deck construction to metal and rigid insulation in place of gypsum deck; revision of entrance to new construction at the high school; change in type of acoustical tile and omission of a portion of the chalkboard area in the new classrooms on the elementary level.

Revisions which permitted total deduction of $31,237 on the plumbing and heating contract are reported to have included changing controls on heating equipment, elimination of interior roof drains using gutters as the result of the change in the roof deck and deletion of wall pipe covers. A bid, dealt with the revision of change in the light fixtures throughout the new building created an estimated saving of and omission of a parking area $4,219 on the electrical contract.

Fields, Goldman and Magee, architectural firm, had been going over the specifications with the firms of Hellrung, Kane and Central, the low bidders on the work, since the opening of bids in November.

The suggested changes were studied at length by the board of education. At the end of the discussion period, the firm of Fields, Goldman and Magee, was authorized to prepare rough drafts of contracts with additions and deductions for legal study and final review by the Board of Education.

Virginia Wondered About Santa In '97

NORTH CHATHAM, N.Y. — Seventy years ago, a worried eight-year-old girl asked the New York Sun to "please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

That question and the editorial reply of Sept. 21, 1897, have immortalized her name—Virginia—and tied it irrevocably with Christmas.

Now 78, Mrs. Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas looks forward to spending the holiday with her large family, including great grandchildren.

Virginia wrote the Sun that "some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, 'If you see it in the Sun, it's so.'"

And Virginia saw it in the Sun — "Yes Virginia, there is a Santa Claus"—in an editorial written by Francis P. Church.

Streaking Plains Upends Tigers, 78-66

PLEASANT PLAINS—Streaking Plains, three teammates made their sixth straight victory after an opening loss, handing Beardstown its first loss of the season, here Saturday evening, 78-66.

The victors, now 6-1, led 24-15 and 45-31 at the first two stops before Beardstown rallied back into contention in the closing half.

The Tigers, who suffered their first loss in five games, cut the gap to 64-55 with 4:40 showing in the contest. From there accuracy at the charity stripe kept the hosts at a safe distance.

Plains utilized an effective man-to-man full court press throughout the tilt, and actually outboarded the much taller Beardstown Tigers, 37-31. Plains hit 22 of 26 charity throws to 16 of 24 by the losers, and hit 28 of 61 from the field. Beardstown managed 25 of 62 field goal tries.

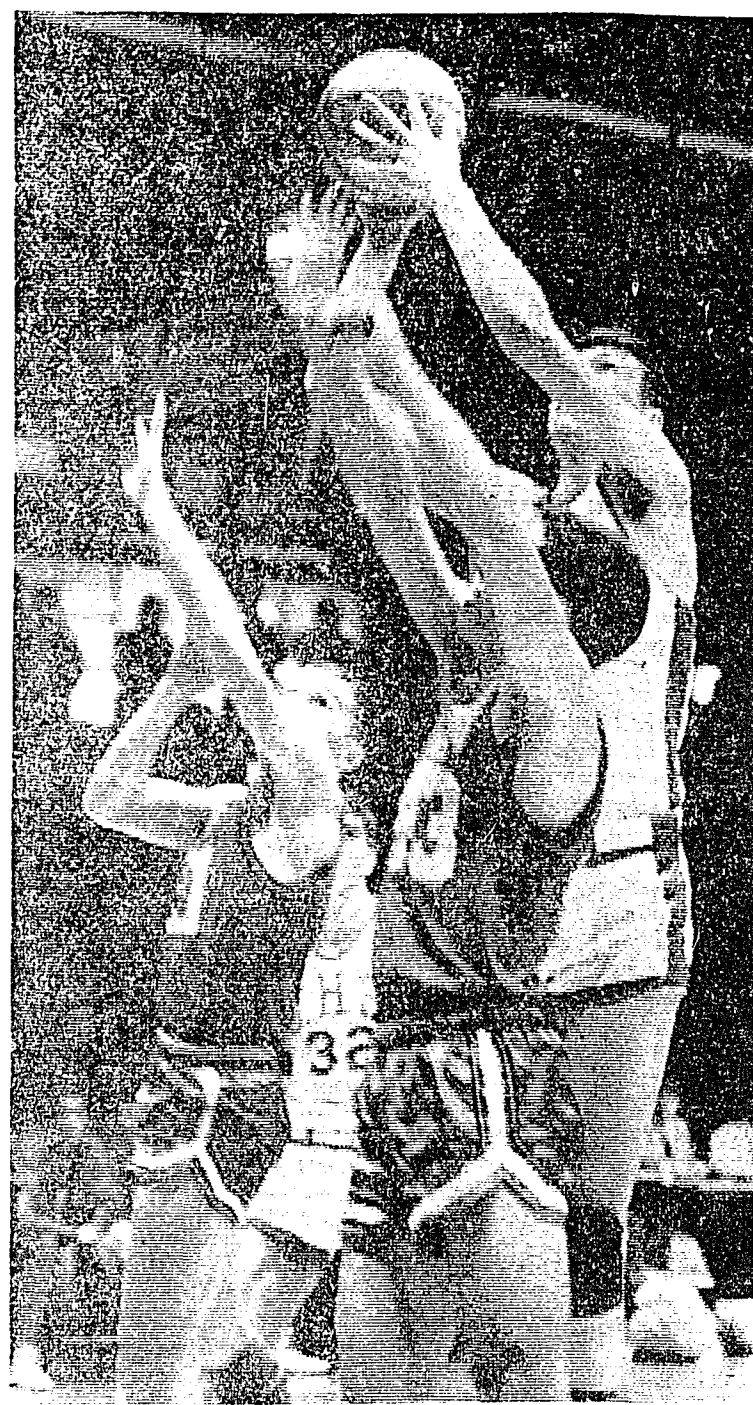

Bob Austin, a transfer from Glenwood, led the balanced Plains scoring effort with 15 points. Three teammates made double figures. Center Jim Rolt hit 17 and forward Roger Webster 15 for the losers.

CAN'T BEAT IT: JHS center Bob Esslinger, 6-6, has room to spare as he jumps over Bob Kenney (51) and Tim Evans for this short jump shot that netted him two of his 14 points Saturday evening. Jacksonville captured its third straight victory, trimming Champaign Centennial 69-54.

Jacks Streak To Third Straight Victory, 69-54

Balanced Scoring Sparks Loop Margin

By BUFORD GREEN

Sport Editor

A hot-shooting night and the best balanced scoring attack of the season powered the Jacksonville Crimsons to their third straight victory, a rather easy 69-54 Capital Conference count over Champaign Centennial, at the JHS Bowl Saturday evening.

The Crimsons, now 3-2 after two opening losses to top-notch outfits, fired away at a 51.8% clip and put four players in double figures for the first time this season.

The contest was never really in doubt after JHS reeled off the first nine points of the second quarter, stretching a 13-11 edge to 22-11 and later increasing the difference to 15 points at intermission. Centennial, operating its first season in the Capital Conference and winless after five starts in its initial varsity season, never got closer than 14 points after halftime.

In its final game before entering the tough Centralia Holiday Tournament Dec. 27, Jacksonville had one of its better ball handling evenings of the young campaign, committing only nine turnovers until the fourth period and ending up with 17 the scrappy Crimsons despite forced Centennial to cough up the ball 23 times on mistakes.

Balanced Attack

Junior center Duane Mounts led the scoring parade for the winners with 21. The 6-4 leaper was a board mainstay and set up at least ten more points with sharp pass assists. Bob Esslinger, who flipped in 31 Friday night against MacArthur, added 14 on seven of 12 field goal attempts. Senior forward Gerry McKean had his best night of the year, hitting six of ten shots, including five in a row from the corner, with 14 points and Rod Simonds came on in limited time to toss in ten points.

The contest was, indeed, close through the first eight minutes. The two clubs exchanged leads in straight times, with never more than three points separating the two. Buckets by Mounts and Esslinger pulled JHS to a 13-11 first quarter final.

Jacks Pull Away

Rick Hatcher, Mounts and Ed Winger combined for the first nine points of the second stanza for a 22-11 difference. Midway through the quarter Esslinger hit three straight 15-footers turn around jumpers. McKean tipped in a bucket and Mounts and Simonds connected from the baseline for a 35-20 halftime margin. Sharpshooter Herb LeShoure, a 5-8 junior guard, was the only offensive punch for the visiting Chargers through the quarter.

Midway through the third quarter Hatcher and Mounts boosted the lead to 17, then McKean hit four in a row from the deep corner to offset six points by Randy Moncrief and the Crimsons upped the lead to 19, 50-29.

The final eight minutes was more of the same, with Esslinger's layup on an assist from Mounts making the difference 63-54 with 3:52 to play. Centennial's best rally effort net-

MacMurray Matmen Take Triple Dual

By TOM GIFFEN

MacMurray College lost only five matches Saturday afternoon, in winning three dual meets on the Highlander mat. The triple dual meet saw MacMurray decisively defeat Southeast Missouri 25-6, Millikin 34-3 and Carthage College 27-6.

Five Highlanders went through the afternoon without being beaten. Captain Ron Otto won his three matches, all by pins. Roger LaPointe, Paul Nelson, Wayne Dudiak and Bob Kellogg were undefeated.

Mac started with Southeast Missouri and was behind after three matches 6-3, but the Highlanders won the next six matches, one an Otto pin in 37 seconds.

The Highlanders rolled up a 20-0 edge in the first four matches of the Millikin meet with two pins and two forfeits. Jim Deremick decided Larry Kolb in the 152 class for the Big Blue's only points.

MacMurray again took the first four matches in their meet with Carthage. Bob Stanley received his second forfeit of the day in the 123 class, and Otto recorded his third pin, this time in 36 seconds. Heavyweight Kellogg pinned Chris Pivovar in 5:30.

In the other dual meets held in the MacMurray gym, Carthage defeated Millikin 22-8, and Southeast Missouri dropped Carthage 22-11 and Millikin 18-14.

Bob Zarf, captain of the Carthage Redmen, scored three victories. He decided Jack Jepson of Mac and Bruce Wissore of Southeast Missouri and pinned Chris Dubinick from Millikin.

The Highlanders scored a total of 86 points in the three meets. This was 40 points more than the closest competitor, Southeast Missouri.

Bethalto Tears Greenfield, 97-51

GREENFIELD — A tall and powerful Bethalto outfit had no trouble in breezing to a decisive 97-51 non-conference triumph over outmanned Greenfield, here Saturday evening.

Bethalto led 28-18 and 53-20 at the close of the initial two periods, and cruised in from there. The winners put ten players in the scoring column, led by sophomore Dave Taynor's 20 points.

Chuck Morrow with 14 and Roger Lansaw with ten were the only Greenfield players to make two figures in the scoring column.

NC State Stops Georgia Threat For 14-7 Upset

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) —

North Carolina State turned back two Georgia scoring bids in the last four minutes Saturday, preserving a 14-7 upset victory over the Bulldogs in the ninth annual Liberty Bowl.

The Wolfpack, scoring its first bowl victory ever, stopped a Georgia drive on the one yard line with 3:27 left and then stopped another Bulldog bid on the ten.

Quarterback Jim Donnan, hitting on 16 of 24 passes, directed the North Carolina State triumph, which gave the Wolfpack nine victories for the first year since 1927.

The conquest by the Atlantic Coast Conference team was the first by an ACC football squad over a Southeastern Conference club in 24 tries.

The Wolfpack, determined to prove it deserves its last minute invitation to the Liberty Bowl, cracked a 7-7 tie in the fourth quarter but almost blew its lead when it had a punt blocked out of its own end zone with 10 seconds left.

Blow Last Chance

The Bulldogs recovered the blocked ball on the North Carolina State nine, but they were unable to gain in four plays and the Wolfpack then ran out the clock.

The loss left Georgia with a 7-4 record for the year, with the Wolfpack closing the campaign with a 9-2 mark.

North Carolina State scored first with Donnan tossing a six-yard touchdown pass to Harry Martell in the second quarter. Georgia tied the score later in the period on Ronnie Jenkins' one-yard touchdown plunge, set up by quarterback Kirby Moore's passes to Dennis Hughes.

SHINER BREAKS LEG

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Quarterback Dick Shiner of the Cleveland Browns broke his leg in practice Saturday and will miss Sunday's season final game against the Philadelphia Eagles.

A Browns spokesman said Gary Lane, a two-year National Football League veteran, would start instead. The Browns had announced earlier Shiner would start to give quarterback Frank Ryan a breather before the playoffs.

The Browns said Shiner slipped on an icy field while working out in Cleveland Saturday morning before the team flew here. He broke the fibula in his left leg.

Shiner, 25, is 6-foot-7 and weighs 197 pounds. He is a four-year NFL veteran and came to Cleveland from Washington in a trade just before the exhibition season.

Wildcats Blast Valparaiso 91-64

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — North Western handed Valparaiso its first basketball defeat of the season Saturday night with a 91-64 triumph.

The Wildcats, recording their third victory in four games, led all way and were ahead 48-33 at the half.

Dale Kelley led Northwestern with 24 points and Larry Saunders chipped in with 10 more while Shelley Ferguson topped Valparaiso with 20 although he fouled out midway in the second half.

Bunning Traded To Pittsburgh

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies, in what appears to be a rebuilding program, traded ace right-hand pitcher Jim Bunning to the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday for left-hander Woody Fryman and three minor league players.

General Manager John Quinn of the Phillies said shortstop Don Money, a Pirates' farmhand, was the key to his willingness to give up Bunning, one of the top pitchers in baseball. The Phillies also received two pitchers from the Pirates' system: left-hander Bill Laxton and right-hander Harold Clem.

It was the second deal in less than 24 hours by Quinn, who Friday night sent two veterans, pitcher Dick Ellsworth and catcher Gene Oliver, to the American League champion Boston Red Sox for young catcher Mike Ryan.

Although it had been rumored for sometime that Bunning, now 36, was expendable in a youth movement, the trade was a stunner in that the Phillies did not obtain one proven major league performer. Fryman had a 12-9 rookie year at Pittsburgh in 1966, but last season slumped to a 3-8 record with a 4.06 earned run average.

Proven Veteran
Bunning, one of eight pitchers in the history of major league baseball to pitch a perfect game, came to the Phillies in the winter of 1963 from the Detroit Tigers for outfielder Don Demeter and pitcher Jack Hamilton. He won 19 games in each of his first three years with the Phillies and 17 last season for a total of 74 National League victories, including 23 shutouts and a 2.48 ERA. He lost 46.

The tall, slim Kentuckian last season posted a 2.29 ERA, second best in the league and the best of his 13-year career. He told the Associated Press earlier Saturday, "I can't pitch any better than I did last season." Bunning's 15 losses last season included six shutouts, five by 1-0 scores, tying a major league record. He led the league in games started, 40, innings pitched, 302; strikeouts, 253, and tied for most shutouts, 6.

Quinn said the Phillies couldn't turn down the Pittsburgh proposition with Money in the deal.

Army Takes 65-57 Win From Illini In Tournament

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Army fashioned a 14-point lead in the first half and then fought off an Illinois rally to win the consolation game in Tennessee's Volunteer Classic basketball tournament Saturday night, 65-57.

Hitting 50 per cent of their shots from the floor, the Cadets went to the intermission leading 30-16.

But the game took on a different complexion in the second half as Illinois fought back with a pressing defense and closed the gap to 57-33 with 1:47 left.

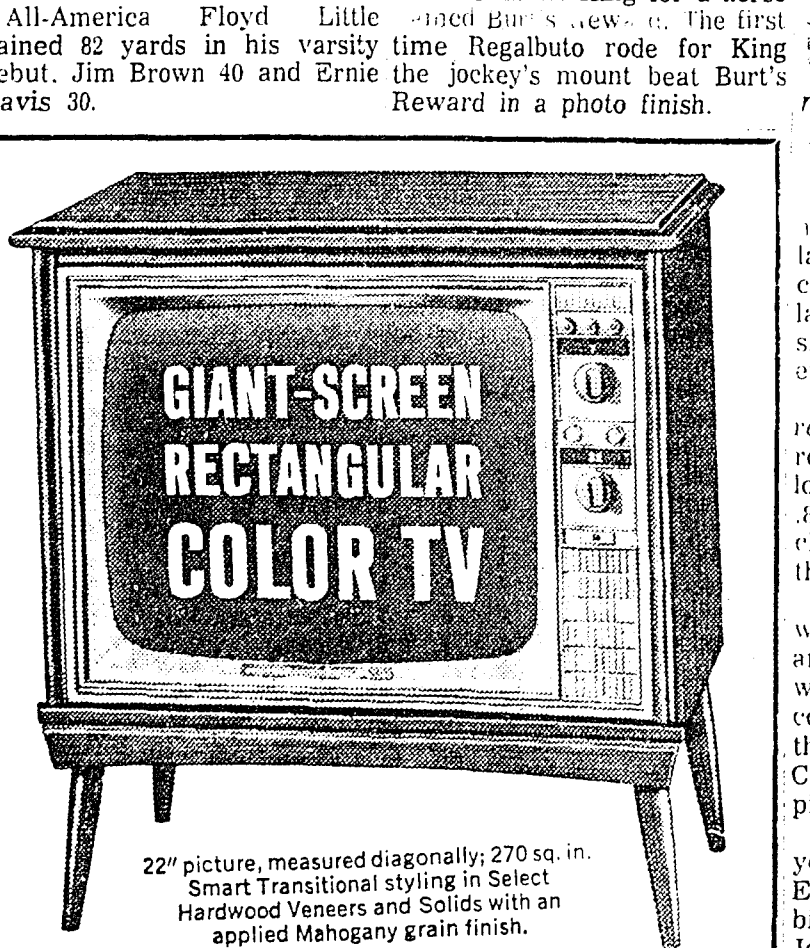

Army's Wade Urban and Mike Noonan added six points from the foul line on 1-and-1 situations, and the Cadets turned back the Illini challenge.

Bill Schutsky led Army with 22 points. Illinois' Dave Scholz scored 24.

NEW 44 FOR ORANGE
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Though he has missed much action this season because of a sprained knee, sophomore quarterback Rich Panczyzyn (Pan-si-on) has much to remember.

In his debut against Baylor, his 88 rushing yards topped the yards gained in a debut by previous sophomore wearers of No. 44.

All-American Floyd Little gained 82 yards in his varsity debut, Jim Brown 40 and Ernie Davis 30.

49ers Count 24-16 Upset Over Dallas

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The fired up San Francisco 49ers, with sensational catches, defeated the Capitol Division champion Dallas Cowboys 24-16 Saturday in a meaningless National Football League game.

The Cowboys, now 9-5, hoped to use this game to sharpen their attack for their Eastern Division championship game with Cleveland, the Central winner, in Dallas, Dec. 24.

Instead, in the nationally televised game, the 49ers won and wound up the season with a 7-7 record.

San Francisco scored the first time it got the ball, on rookie Jim Jackson's interception and 22-yard run to Dallas' 37. Ken Willard and veteran John David Crow carried 20 and 13 yards, respectively, and Sonny Randle made a leaping, fingertip catch of the four-yard pass for the touchdown.

Danny Villanueva's 25-yard field goal cut it to 7-3. In the final quarter, the Cowboys went 91 yards to score on a 14-yard pass, Craig Morton to Lance Rentzel, and Craig Baynam scored on a one-yard run.

For perhaps the first time, the 49ers' No. 2 quarterback, George Mira, outsparked 11-year veteran John Brodie.

Mira threw three touchdown passes, including the four-yarder in the first period that gave the 49ers a lead they never relinquished.

Dallas quarterback Don Meredith left the game late in the first half with a slightly sprained knee. Doctors said he should be in shape for the game against the Cleveland Browns. He played with a mask protecting a broken nose.

The 49ers scored two other touchdowns on spectacular plays. Crow took an 8-yarder between two Cowboys and raced 10 more into the end zone.

Gary Lewis made a stunning catch of a 32-yard bullet from Mira.

Tommy Davis added a 37-yard field goal.

Vandy Squeezes Duke By 76-75

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Bo Wyenandt, one of three ailing Vanderbilt players, scored on a 25-foot jump shot with two seconds remaining to give the third-ranked Commodores a 76-75 basketball victory over previously unbeaten Duke Saturday night.

The winning goal came after Duke's Mike Lewis put the Blue Devils ahead 75-74 on jump shot with 26 seconds left.

The Commodores took advantage of three quick Duke floor mistakes in the final five minutes to overcome a Blue Devil lead and go ahead 76-69 for the first time in the second half.

Wyenandt, forward Bob Warren and guard Kenny Campbell were victims of a virus this week, and it was not known until gametime if they would play. Campbell sat out the entire game.

Junior Tommy Hagan, despite four first half fouls, led both teams in scoring with 26 points before fouling out late in the game.

Lewis and Dave Golden were high for the Blue Devils with 18 points each.

The victory gave Vandy a 5-0 mark for the season. Duke is now 4-1.

UCLA And Cincy Top Cage Marks

NEW YORK (AP) — UCLA national champion three of the last four years, is the leading college basketball team for the last five years on a won-lost basis. For the last 10 years, however, Cincinnati is No. 1.

The UCLA Bruins, with a current winning streak of 37 in a row, have won 129 games and lost only 19 for a percentage of .872 for the last five years, including three games this season through Dec. 13.

The Cincinnati Bearcats, who won the national title in 1966 and 1967 and had a 37-game winning streak snapped in 1963, compiled a 239-53 .813 record for the 10-year span. The National Collegiate Sports Services compiled the figures.

Duke is second on the five year list followed by Texas at El Paso, Providence, Vanderbilt, Princeton, Davidson, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, Chicago Loyola and San Francisco.

Rounding out the first 10 behind Cincinnati on the 10-year list are Providence, Bradley, Duke, St. Joseph's, West Virginia, UCLA, Kentucky, Dayton and Princeton and Kansas State tied for 10th.

FORMER JHS basketball star Steve Bone will be returning to Jacksonville with Wooster College of Ohio Monday night at MacMurray's Fieldhouse. The 6-5 junior forward, is in his second year of varsity competition for the Fighting Scots of Wooster, Ohio.

Wooster, 1-2 before starting a two-game jaunt through Illinois, failed to get a chance to improve their record this past Tuesday when their game with Kenyon College was cancelled shortly before game time when a section of the Kenyon stands collapsed, injuring over a dozen spectators.

Wooster played Lake Forest Saturday night. Monday's game with MacMurray will be the first meeting between the two schools. The Highlanders have a 3-3 record.

Heading the Wooster attack is freshman Tom Dinger of Mansfield, Ohio, currently leading the Scot scoring attack with a 16.7 average. Close behind is 6-7 forward Rich Thompson with an 18.0 average and 45 rebounds. The other three starters are forward Mike Beitzel, center Tom Beeching and guard Trevor Sharp, with averages of 12.0, 8.7 and 6.5, respectively.

But with the Tigers leading 7-5 with 11:13 to go, Scott picked up the lethargic Tar Heels with his first break and in 12 minutes North Carolina rolled out the Tigers 13-2 to break the game open.

Scott and Larry Miller paced the scoring off the first break and Dick Gurnea, a clever guard, set the tempo with great passing.

Miller was top scorer with 22 points. Scott had 17 and Rusty Clark 16. John Hummer got 17 points for Princeton.

Houston Surprises Chargers

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers used the passing of Pete Beathard and power running of Hoyle Granger to defeat the San Diego Chargers 24-17 Saturday and take a one-half game lead in the Eastern Division title race of the American Football League.

Beathard threw two touchdown passes and Granger collected another while becoming only the second Oiler in history to gain more than 1,000 yards rushing in a single season.

The victory was Houston's first over San Diego since 1962, and it left the Oilers with an 8-1 record with only one game to play, against Miami next Saturday night in Miami.

The New York Jets can pull back into a division tie Sunday by upsetting Oakland, the champions of the Western Division. An Oakland victory, however, would assure Houston of at least a tie in the Eastern Division.

A 31-yard field goal by John Wittenborn gave Houston a 3-0 first period lead but San Diego came back with a 74-yard surge for a temporary 7-3 lead on a one-yard pass from John Hadl to Brad Hubbard.

Houston then moved to a 17-7 advantage as Granger scored on a one-yard run and Woodie Campbell took an eight-yard Beathard pass. An 18-yard field goal by Dick Van Raaphorst cut the lead to 17-10 early in the final period but Beathard iced the game by climaxing a 59-yard drive with a 15-yard scoring toss to Alvin Reed.

Hadl kept San Diego's chances alive by engineering a late 57-yard surge which Willie Frazier ended by taking a 16-yard scoring pass with just two minutes, 50 seconds left. It was the last time the Chargers had the ball, however, as the Oilers took over and moved from their 28 to the San Diego 24 before the final gun.

Granger netted 107 yards in 27 carries to run his season total to 1,030 yards in 216 plays. The new mark erased a team record of 1,012 yards by Charlie Tolar in 1962.

Beathard completed 14 of 24 passes for 188 yards. Hadl completed 23 of 40 for 196. Hubbard led the Charger rushers with 65 yards in 13 carries.

Arizona Breaks JIU Streak With 65-50 Triumph

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Arizona handed the Southern Illinois basketball team its first home loss in 32 starts Saturday night at Carbondale. The final score was 65-50.

Bill Davis and Roland Stamps shared scoring honors for Arizona with 17 each, but Chuck Benson of Southern was the game's leading scorer with 18. Arizona had the edge in rebounds 53-34 and shot better from the field.

Baltimore, Rams In NFL Spotlight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The unbeaten Baltimore Colts and the pursuing Los Angeles Rams collide for the Coastal Division title Sunday in a game that, for the moment, overshadows the conference playoffs and the National Football League championship game itself in the next two weeks.

The momentous confrontation has been a complete sellout for two weeks and more than 76,000 are expected to jam Memorial Coliseum.

Kickoff time is 1:05 p.m., Pacific Standard Time.

On display will be the famed and familiar talents of the team field generals, quarterbacks Johnny Unitas of the Colts and the Rams' Roman Gabriel, and their fellow artists of violence and excitement.

For the Rams, it is another week of living dangerously, another struggle that must be won or all is lost for the long season.

Coach Don Shula's Colts go into the game with a record of 11 victories, nary a defeat and two ties-24-24 with the Rams and 20-20 with the Minnesota Vikings.

George Allen's Rams have won 10, dropped 1 to the San Francisco 49ers, 27-24, and tied Baltimore and the Washington Redskins, 28-28.

The winner will meet the Central Division champion Green Bay Packers in Milwaukee next Saturday for the Western Conference title.

Bradley Streaks To 7th Straight Victory, 81-76

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Bradley's undefeated Braves rolled to their seventh straight victory Saturday night with an 81-76 triumph over St. Louis.

The Braves used a balanced scoring attack to whip the St. Louis team as Al Smith set the pace with 19 points and Joe Allen and Willie Betts added 16 each.

Bradley swept to a 40-36 half-time lead and then had to stave off a second half attack by the visitors who were led by Gene Moore's 22 points.

Bradley had to revert to a controlled offense with some seven minutes left after Betts put the Braves in front with a free throw.

Sophomore Leads Indiana To 101-95 Overtime Margin

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Sophomore Joe Cooke led the way with 27 points Saturday night as ninth-ranked Indiana surged to a 101-95 victory in overtime to hand a scrappy North Carolina State basketball team its first loss of the season.

A crowd of 10,000 saw the Wolfpack fight back from a 45-35 half-time deficit to tie the score at 85-85 on a jump shot from the corner by Eddie Biedenbach with 15 seconds left to play to force the game into overtime.

In the extra period, Indiana scored five points in the first minute and Ken Johnson, 6-foot-6 sophomore had three of them. State narrowed the lead to one point at 90-89 on a shot by Dick Braucher, but Johnson came up with a three-point play with 1:20 left to force the Hoosiers their six-point victory margin.

Esslinger Hits 31 As Jacks Even Mark

DECATUR — The Jacksonville Crimsons put together their best performance of the season, here Friday night, throwing up a solid defense that held Decatur MacArthur to a 26-point shooting evening and breezing to an easy 67-36 Capital Conference victory over the Generals.

The 31-point performance of 6-6 senior center Bob Esslinger and the ball-hawking defense led by sophomore guard Rick Hatcher were the brightest spots as JHS evened its record at 2-2 and handed MacArthur its first defeat in five outings.

Esslinger and Hatcher sparked a brilliant second quarter in which Jacksonville broke from an 11-7 first period lead to a 38-12 intermission spread. MacArthur hit only four of 24 field goal attempts for an icy 16 1/2 in the first half, to JHS' 14-30 46 1/2 clip. Esslinger tossed in 17 points in the half and Hatcher set up several easy buckets with steals out front.

Statistics	JHS	Mac
Shooting	44-62 39%	25-57 26%
Rebounding	JHS—34 (14 off; 20 def)	Mac—28 (11 off; 17 def)
Turnovers	JHS—15	Mac—23

Esslinger's 31 points are the most by a Crimson in three years, as the Glenwood transfer hit on 11 of 24 field shots and nine of 12 charity throws. Esslinger also combined with forwards Duane Mounds and Gerry McKean to dominate the boards to the tune of 34-28. Mounds was the only Crimson off on his shooting, connecting only four of 16 from out and netted 12 points, far below his average entering the contest.

Crimsons Break Away
After managing an 11-7 first frame lead, with Esslinger getting seven of the 11, Jacksonville completely blitzed the hosts in the second round. Esslinger and Hatcher combined for 11 points in an 11-1 scoring spurt in the first three minutes, before Jacksonville got scoring from everyone in a string of 16 straight points that accounted for a lop-sided 38-12 halftime spread.

The second half was never really contested, as Jacksonville's lead was never less than 23 points or more than 31 points, with only seconds left. Esslinger finished his 31-point night before leaving with six minutes left in the tilt.

MacArthur did not press for most of the game and the Crimsons responded with their fewest turnovers, 15, of the night. The tight JHS defense got 23 floor mistakes out of the losing Generals.

Panthers Shade Spartans 75-74 At The Finish

WHITE HALL — Ron Blackorby's bucket with 1:19 to play turned out to be the game decider as the ball-hawking Jerseyville Panthers nipped Jacksonville Spartans 75-74, here Friday evening despite a sparkling performance by the losers' John Janvrin.

Blackorby's field goal put Jerseyville up by 72 and off-set Janvrin's bucket with only three seconds showing on the clock.

North Greene had led by ten at intermission before the Jerseyville press, which forced the hosts into 34 floor mistakes, took over in the third. Two straight bad passes with five minutes left in the fourth capped the Panther rally and put Jerseyville up by three points. Janvrin threw in 30 points and hauled down 21 rebounds, as North Greene dominated the boards to the tune of 58-31. The losers hit on 30 of 52 field tries to Jerseyville's 31-65 evening from the floor.

Blackorby tossed in 22 points to spark the now 5-1 Panthers, while Janvrin led all scorers for North Greene, now 3-2.

Saukees Stretch Streak To 6-0 With 57-51 Count

CARROLLTON — The Pittsfield Saukees used the scoring talents of Don Jenkins to extend their winning streak to six games with a 57-51 victory over Carrollton, here Friday evening. Jenkins netted 20 points for the Pittsfield club.

Rich Stendebach, a big scorer for the Carrollton Hawks, was held to only two points in the game, both on charity tosses. Ron Stuart took over the pivot point and did a nice job, grabbing 27 points for himself in the process.

Both ball teams played a controlled ball game all the way, working for the good shot. Few shots were taken in the game, and the percentages were good.

Greenfield Rolls Past Tigers, 73-51

The ISD Tigers, missing the talents of one of their big scorers, Ron Penn, dropped a non-conference game 73-51 to the Tigers of Greenfield Friday night. Penn was absent from the game, played on the loser's court, because of disciplinary action.

ISD got off to a slow start, hitting only four of fifteen shots from the floor during the first quarter. Greenfield, however, started well, hitting eight of 14 to build up 18 points by the first break. The second quarter looked nearly as bad for ISD, they were outscored 13-9 in that stanza.

The Tigers of ISD came back from the half with a renewed scoring attack, but the Greenfield ball club managed to outscore them yet. Terry Storey had twelve points for the home team in the last period, but the rest of the team chipped in only four more points.

Shooting from the floor told the tale in the game; Greenfield got more shots and made more. The Greenfield team made 31 of 62 shots from the floor, which gave them an even 50 per cent. ISD completed 18 of 61 for 31 per cent.

Costa's Late FG Wins For Rockets

By TOM GIFFEN
Mike Costa's jumper with 11 seconds to knock off a 32-minute rally for Routt as the Rockets knocked off Kincaid, 56-54, on the winner's floor Friday night.

The game seemed to be out of reach for Routt when Brian Bertoldo scored for the Ponies with 1:36 to play, putting Kincaid up by 54-52.

Don Fernandez then gathered his fifth foul of the second half and on a charging inaction, and the Ponies took the ball into a stall with 1:23 to play.

Tom Drnjovic, seeing an opening, broke the tie, but his shot was wide of the mark. Costa rebounded but was fouled by Frank Orlando.

The Rockets failed to capitalize on the one-and-one situation, and Bertoldo grabbed the rebound. Kincaid brought the ball down the floor with a minute left and the game tied.

Routt is now 2-3 on the season, and Kincaid holds a 3-5 record.

Mike Conrath's pass was intercepted by Routt with 38 seconds remaining, and Dave Ryan hit a shot from underneath the basket tying the game, and was fouled in the process with 26 seconds left.

The charity toss was missed; Jim Kaiser rebounded, and Costa sank the winning shot.

Bertoldo, with little time remaining, brought the ball down the court and shot. Ryan rebounded and held the ball until the buzzer sounded.

Kincaid jumped off to an early 7-0 lead and was never headed until 5:48 left to play in the third period following a Dan Welsh Bucket.

Back And Forth
The lead exchanged hands 10 times in the next 13 minutes. Routt's biggest lead at any time during the game was a 49-45 bulge with 5:27 to play in the final period.

The Rockets fought back from seven-point deficits in the first period, and the Ponies held a 14-9 lead at the first stop. Routt entered the dressing room at halftime down by two, after being down by seven to 11 points throughout the period.

Fernandez scored six and Kaiser four in the Rockets' late rush before intermission. Kaiser hit a 40-foot shot at the buzzer.

The Rockets, having had their problems with hitting from the floor, hit their first three shots of the fourth period. Fernandez and Ryan accounted for the scoring rush. Routt hit 23 of 55 shots for 41.9 per cent.

Kincaid, after hitting 12 of 26 in the first half, ended up with 21 of 63 shots for 33.3 per cent from the floor.

Neither team could gather an advantage at the free throw line, as Routt hit 10 of 28 and the Ponies 12 of 28.

The rebounds were even in the first half with 20 for each team, but the Rockets held a 24-17 advantage in the second half.

Big Ten Granted 10 Bonus Grid Scholarships

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Ten universities were granted a total of 10 bonus football scholarships Friday for the next two seasons as the conference meetings came to a close.

Big Ten athletic directors had sought to boost the number of football tenders from the limit of 30 to 35 a year but faculty representatives approved a bonus boost of five per season for the next two years.

The 10 bonus tenders will be in addition to the 70 over all scholarships which can be awarded through any school's one-year athletic program.

Commissioner Bill Reed called the move "an elbow room" provision which would give schools which are low on talent for various reasons a chance to build up their banks.

The regular limit of 30 tenders gives schools the right to use up to 30 a season but if a school grants only 25 then it can bank the other five for future use.

Most of the schools are expected to spread out their 10 bonus tenders over a period of years.

Reed said the move by the faculty representatives was a denial for a blanket increase and also gave schools a chance of issuing more tenders without the possibility of exceeding the limit.

Most schools will issue 30 tenders but maybe get 24 or 25 acceptances. Now, for the next two years, some schools can issue 35 tenders and maybe get up to 30 or even more of the blue chip athletes.

Barney And Farr Sweep Honors

DETROIT (AP) — Lem Barney and Mel Farr, roommates off the field, completed a sweep of the National Football League's rookie of the year honors for the Detroit Lions Friday when Barney was named defensive rookie of the year.

Farr, a strapping All-American halfback from UCLA, took offensive rookie of the year honors in a survey of sportswriters and sportscasters, three from each league city, Thursday.

TELL STADIUM PLANS
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Preliminary plans for Louisiana's super dome were unveiled Friday to the stadium and exposition district. The architectural and engineering blueprints call for the stadium to be the world's largest building, seating 80,000 for football and 58,500 for baseball.

Estimated construction cost is $46.3 million.

Wildeats Blast
Waverly By 75-41

PALMYRA — Northwestern pulled away in the second period en route to an easy 75-41 MSM Conference triumph over Waverly, here Friday evening.

Leading only 10-7 and 23-18 at the first two stops, Northwestern broke loose in a 25-7 third stanza and was never threatened after that.

Larry Anderson sparked the now 4-2 winners, 2-1 in the MSM, with 24 points, while Points was the only player in double figures, ten, for the losers, now 0-5.

DON'T SQUEEZE THE BALL
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Midelegard Granville Liggins of the Oklahoma football team explains the secret of his fast charge this way:
"I watch the centers. They squeeze harder on the ball just before the snap—or their arm muscles bulge more. When this happens, I'm going. I don't stand back and rattle with anyone any more."

FIRST IN 15 YEARS
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — When California beat Michigan 10-9 on a 77-yard pass play in the final two minutes, it marked Cal's first victory over a Big Ten team in 15 years.

The victory also marked the 38th birthday for Cal coach Ray Wilsey.

Mets' Davis, Fisher Go To Sox For Agee

NEW YORK (AP) — The Chicago White Sox got the hitting and pitching and the New York Mets the fielding Friday in a six-player baseball trade featuring outfielders Tommie Agee and Tommy Davis and pitcher Jack Fisher.

The Sox, in the running for the American League pennant until the final three days of last season, obtained Davis, two-time National League batting champion, and Fisher, a veteran right-handed starter.

Two minor leaguers, pitcher Billy Wynne and catcher Dick "Buddy" Booker, also moved to Chicago in the transaction completed less than 12 hours before the midnight deadline for inter-league trading.

The last-place Mets acquired Agee, a center fielder, and infielder Al Weis, both skilled players defensively.

"We feel that Davis is one of the better hitters in baseball and we think we have improved our offensive strength considerably," said Ed Short, the White Sox general manager.

Davis, 28 years old, had a .302 batting average with 16 homers and 73 runs batted in while playing left field in his one season with the Mets. He was acquired from Los Angeles where he topped the NL in batting with .346 in 1962 and .326 in 1963.

Not Impressive
Agee, 25, hit .234 with 14 homers and 52 RBI last season. He struck out 129 times, third highest total in the AL, and made the most errors among AL outfielders, 11, while handling 354 chances.

"Agee is a young player who has an outstanding glove and range, exceptional speed and good power," said Gil Hodges, the Mets' manager.

A Davis for Agee trade had been rumored for a number of weeks. Fisher and Weis were surprise additions.

Fisher, 28, posted a 9-18 record in 1967. A former member of the Baltimore Orioles, for whom he won 12 games in 1960, he returns to the American League. Among his other final figures last season were 39 appearances, 30 starts, seven complete games and a 3.70 earned run average.

Weiss suffered torn left knee ligaments last June 27 in a collision with Baltimore's Frank Robinson and was sidelined for the remainder of the season. He played in 60 games, 32 at second base, and hit .245 with no homers and four RBI.

Mason City Nips
Havana, 71-67,
In Extra Period

MASON CITY — Four men in double figures allowed Mason City to slip past the Havana Ducks, 71-67, in an overtime game here Friday night.

Mason City started out with a large lead, but the Ducks chipped away at it steadily until a last second shot by Wayne Fletcher tied the score at 63-all. Mason City, however, took Havana 8-4 in the overtime to win the game.

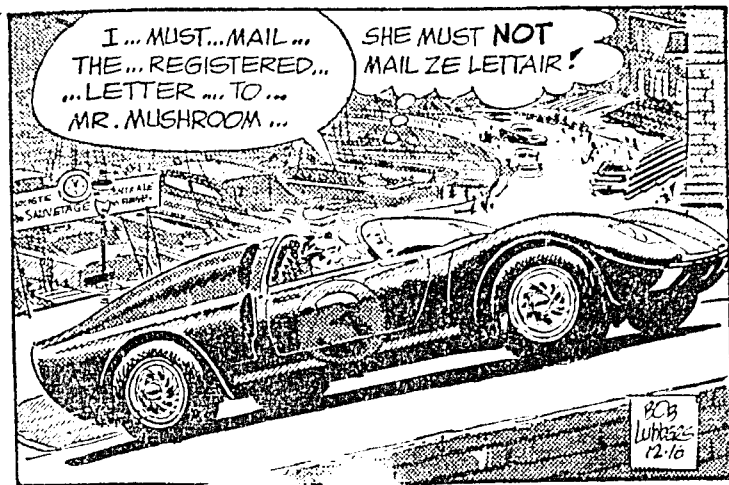

Dennis Specketer led scoring for Havana and in the game, with 20 points. Fletcher and Ron Turner had 14 and 11, respectively, for the Ducks.

Despite the aggressive nature of the action, both teams managed very respectable field percentages. Mason City shot 44 per cent. Havana took 41 per cent. Mason City shot a very good 77 per cent of their free throws, making 27 of 35 shots. Havana made 7 of 29 for 24 per cent.

Havana is 3-2 for the season.

BERRY'S WORLD

"The only Spock we talk about around this house is the one on 'Star Trek!'"

"SPECS" (Spacecraft for Environmental Control Studies) is a prototype of spacecraft that may one day be launched on voyages to distant planets. The 19-foot-diameter spacecraft is being subjected to hot and cold temperature extremes which could be expected on a 150-million-mile trip to Mars. Tests are being conducted at the Martin Marietta Corp. lab in Denver, Colo.

1966-1967 COLLEGE GRADUATES and THOSE ABOUT TO BE IN 1968

Curious about how we handle "new" and slightly "used" grads at Horace Mann? Find out for yourself how you can achieve personal growth and job success in an organization where those in the top three levels of management average 37 years of age. We are having an "open house" Wednesday, December 27th from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. for you — with tours, a luncheon, and a discussion of your Development Program, as it relates to you. Discussion participants:

"What's in it for me, if I'm under 30?"
Sanford Enslin, 25, Manager Birmingham Southern Terance Johnson, 25, Claims Supervisor Eastern Illinois
Tom Niemeyer, 26, Staff Assistant Valparaiso
Ross Gamble, 29, Manager Minnesota
"What's in it for Horace Mann, if I'm under 40?"
Gerald Lee, 30, Assistant Director Cincinnati
Howard Fricke, 31, Assistant to the President, Illinois Wesleyan
Robert Evans, 37, Vice President Indiana
John Pecaric, 39, Vice President Illinois
"What's in it for you and Horace Mann at any age?"
Dan Bannister, 46, President Albany

If you are interested in spending all or any part of the day with us, please confirm with:

Heart Surgery On Lowe Boys Is Successful

Six year old Ron and ten year old Terry Lowe, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Lowe of Springfield, formerly of Jacksonville had their open heart surgery last Tuesday at the Texas Children's Hospital in Houston. On Friday both boys were able to leave the intensive care ward and return to a regular hospital room, well on their way to recovery.

Hopes are for the young patients, their parents and older sister, Cheri, 16, and brother, Ricky, 18, to be back in their home at No. 6 Robin Hood Lane in Springfield by Christmas.

A bowling tournament is being held today Sunday Dec. 17, at the Strike 'N Spare Lanes in Springfield. A dance is scheduled on Jan. 19th at the Springfield Elks Club, with the Sassenberger combo of Jacksonville playing. Both projects will benefit the Lowe family in its expense for the corrective surgery for the two young boys.

State Patient Termed Better After Accident

A Jacksonville State hospital patient was termed in satisfactory condition Saturday at the hospital infirmary recovering from injuries sustained Friday when he jumped into the path of a truck east of the city on U.S. 36-54.

The man was identified as Ralph Hudson, 43, of Shelbyville, who reportedly sustained a broken leg, and three broken ribs.

Troopers said that Hudson was walking along the north side of the highway near the GM & O overpass when he suddenly moved into the path of a westbound truck.

Driver of the truck, Johnnie B. Martin, 27, Greencastle, Ind., said that he saw the man, but was unable to get completely stopped in time to avoid striking him.

Troopers said the accident occurred about 5:30 p.m.

HELD ON $5,000
BAIL FOR SHERIFF

A local man remained in custody of the county sheriff Saturday in lieu of $5,000 bond on the charge of taking indecent liberties with a minor.

Authorities identified the man as Ronald Lee Decker, 32, of Jacksonville, who was taken into custody late Friday afternoon by Sheriff Dean Colwell. Decker was formally charged in a complaint signed Saturday.

'Mysterious' Multiplier Puzzles Many

By Virgil Reither

BEARDSTOWN — The county board has the word that the Cass county multiplier for taxing purposes will be 1.3329.

All this talk about a tax multiplier is a mystery to many taxpayers, although simply stated it is just a way in which the state equalizes taxes paid in spite of the vast differences in assessments in the many townships.

The Illinois Revenue Department gives a multiplier of one—which really is no multiplier at all—to show that a county has assessed property at the required level.

A multiplier over one is given to counties where the property assessments have not been as high as the state level.

By comparing the average level of assessments in counties, and their variation from true values as shown through actual sales, the state revenue people determine the average level of true valuation in the state.

It happens about like this. One county may assess a piece of property valued at $20,000 at $5,000, while another county might assess the same type, valued at $20,000, at $10,000. This of course creates an inequality in the taxes paid by taxpayers in the two counties.

To counteract this the Revenue Department assigns a multiplier to equalize valuations between counties and to more evenly distribute the tax load.

Take the case of a school district which levies a rate of $1 for every $100 of property value. An unjust burden would fall on a taxpayer if his $20,000 house was assessed at $10,000 while in another county in the district the same house would be assessed at only $5,000. But when the state puts a multiplier of two on the second county the owners of both houses would pay the same amount of school tax. And so endeth the lesson.

Labor Organizations Open Tree Of Lights Campaign With $700

Jacksonville's labor organizations launched the 1967 Salvation Army Tree of Lights Campaign Friday and Saturday and pushed the total as of Saturday night to $700.28.

The labor organizations manned the tree at the southeast corner of the public square both Friday and Saturday.

Proceeds of the fund drive will be used to provide food baskets for needy families in the Jacksonville area.

A long list of volunteers helped during the Christmas season so that needy families will be sure to enjoy an ample food supply on Christmas.

Members of the Laborers International Union, Local 253, collected $275 on the first day, Friday, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Members of the Trades and Labor Assembly collected a total of $287.54 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

Volunteers from the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, Local 199, rang the bells from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and collected $137.74.

Radio Program Today
The Jacksonville Jaycees in cooperation with Radio Station WJDS will present an all-request program from 2 to 4 p.m. this afternoon for the benefit of the Salvation Army Tree of Lights.

The program will feature several local musicians as well as talented Jaycees. Prospective donors may call the station anytime after 1 p.m. with requests and Jaycees touring the city in cars will pick up the donations.

Six Days To Go
Six days of fund raising for the annual Salvation Army Tree of Lights remain. The balance of the fund drive will be handled by civic and service clubs and organizations.

Monday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., the Jaycees will man the tree and from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. The Jacksonville Division of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf will assist the Pilot Club with the bell ringing.

The Rotary Club and Business and Professional Women will take over on Tuesday.

Members of the Police and Fire departments will work Wednesday and the Junior Woman's Club will ring the bells that evening.

Thursday will feature the Kiwanis Club and Salvation Army Advisory Board and the Exchange Club and American Business Club will share honors Friday. The Lions Club will man the tree Saturday. The program was founded in Jacksonville by several members of the Lions Club.

Donations to the Tree of Lights may be mailed to the Salvation Army or dropped into the bucket at the southeast corner of the square.

Those who have contributed $10 or more toward the Tree of Lights this year are: Laborers' Local 253; Charles Mason and William R. Watkins; Edward L. Freitag and daughter Barbara; Jacksonville Area Amateur Radio Club, Inc.; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Riemann of Virginia; Paul Keefner; Chanen's Inc.

Also surviving are three brothers: Tom Cody of Canton, Joseph of Sacramento, Calif. and Morris of Shreveport, La. and one sister, Mrs. Barbara Albright of Springfield.

He was preceded in death by his parents and one brother, Robert Cody, who died last June.

Mr. Cody was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church and the New Berlin Knights of Columbus.

Requiem mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at St. Mary's Catholic church, Monsignor John J. McGrath officiating. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery, northwest of New Berlin.

Friends may call after 2 p.m. Monday at the McCullough Funeral Home in New Berlin where the rosary will be recited at 7 p.m.
